PACIFIC COAST.

Warlike Scene in Sacramento County.

MORE TELEGRAPH SERVICE.

A Heavy Consignment of Calfornia Brandy Bound for an European Market.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the Herald.]

SACRAMENTO, July 28.—Hook Gan et al. have begun a suit in the Superior Court against Ah Ping et al. for the possession of a mining claim on Mormon Island this county. The litigants are the Chinamen who indulged in a shooting scrape a few weeks ago, in which one man was shot in the back. Deputy Constable Goods yesterday served the papers on the defendants and says that he found the mine barricaded and all preparations made for war. Breastworks have been thrown up and the Mongolians in possession are provided with almost every conceivable weapon. Winchester rifles stand beside spears fourteen feet in length, and there are curiously constructed shields scattered all about. These shields are made in the shape of a half opened book, are covered with sheet-iron, and are so lined as to be impervious to bullets. The case will not come up in the court for more than a week, and before that time it is believed that the matter will be settled by force of arms.

ANOTHER TELEGRAPH LINE

To be Built Between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—The published statement is made here that a movement is under way among some capitalist in this city and Los Angeles to build an independent telegraph line from this city to the southern portion of the State. The company will incorporate with a capital of $200,000, and the purpose is to build to Los Angeles first and thence to San Diego, Phœnix and other points in Arizona and Southern California. Overtures have been made to the Southern Pacific company for the privilege to erect a line upon its right of way.

CALIFORNIA BRANDY.

An Enormous Shipment for European Consumption.

ST. HELENA, July 28.—Walden & Co. of Philadelphia have just withdrawn 188 barrels and 200 half barrels of brandy from a bonded warehouse here and and also 300 barrels from a Sacramento bonded warehouse for export to Bremen to be shipped by the ship "Langdale" now in San Francisco. This is the largest amount of brandy ever shipped from California at any one time. The shipment is considered to be worth between $70,000 and $80,000.

THE TRAIN ROBBER

Is Expected to Arrive in Los Angeles this Morning.

SAN DIEGO, July 28.—A. McQueen, the arrested Arizona robber who was caught at National City last night, left for Los Angeles in charge of two officers this afternoon. Some damaging evidence was found in his room at the time of the arrest, and Marshal Risley said to-day that he was confident that they have the right man and that McQueen is the leader of the gang. He was also of the opinion that the arrest of the balance of the robbers is only a question of a short time. They are now believed to be in the Mexican territory, not far from the line below this city. Several women are connected with the affair, and it is thought here that communication has been carried on between the outlaws and their friends on American soil.

THE SAN DIEGO EXPRESS

Delayed by a Burned Bridge in the Temecula Canon.

SAN DIEGO, July 28.—The train which should have reached this city at 5:25 last evening did not arrive till 3 o'clock this morning. The cause of the delay was the burning of a bridge in Temecula Cañon, six miles from Fallbrook. Trains were held at National City until about noon to-day and the morning express from the North was several hours late. Passengers and mails were transferred and a large force is at work repairing the structure, with the expectation of having the work completed by to-morrow morning. The loss to the railroad company is reported to be about $3500. A spark from a passing engine caused the damage.

THE GRAIN CROP.

A Good Yield Promised in San Luis Obispo County.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, July 28.—Returns from the harvest fields indicate a slight falling off from last year of wheat, and of barley an increase of nearly 100 per cent. Tho yield of both is 50 per cent more than was expected three months ago and the quality is excellent. The yield of barley on the coast is enormous, going from sixty to eighty-eight bushels per acre. The wheat yield on the coast is double the usual quantity, but east of the mountains is generally light, though some very large yields are reported.

A Mining Venture.

PORTLAND, Ogn., July 28.—S. C. Reed, N. T. Kellogg and Martin Winch have filed articles of incorporation of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining and Concentrating Company with a capital stock of 3,000,000 to operate mines in the Cœur D'Alene district, Idaho.

Fears of a Wheat Crash.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—In the afternoon session of the Produce Exchange to-day, wheat, seller 1887, sold at $2.41, an advance of six cents in one day. The volume of business was light for the reason that many dealers, brokers and bankers fear that a crash is impending.

THE NATIONAL GAME.

Yesterday's Contests Between Rival Ball-players.

BROOKLYN, July 28.—Cincinnati, 8; Brooklyn, 7.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Metropolitans, 3; Cleveland, 4.

BALTIMORE, July 28.—Baltimore, 4; St. Louis, 5.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—Athletics, 3; Louisville, 4.

DETROIT VS. NEW YORK.

DETROIT. July 28.—Pitcher Gruber, recently of Hartford, was put in the box for the Detroits to-day, and pitched a good game, but his support at times was poor. He was rather wild, giving eight bases on balls, but at critical times he steaded down nicely, with three singles and a triple. Detroit scored three in the first, New York tied the score in the third. Detroit took a lead of one in the fifth, but the visitors in the seventh again tied the score. Ewing made a triple, and scored on a sacrifice in the eighth. The game was the hardest seen here this season. Score: Detroit, 4; New York, 5.

INDIANAPOLIS VS. WASHINGTON.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 28.—The game to-day between the Indianapolis and Washington clubs was marked by strong batting, fine fielding and excellent all-round play by the home team, and weakness and inefficiency on the part of the Washingtons.

Score—Indianapolis, 15; Washingtons, 8.

CHICAGO VS. BOSTON.

CHICAGO, July 28.—Chicago beat Boston to-day without much effort. Flint was retired early with a broken finger and Daly took his place. Chicago earned all her runs, and the 6000 spectators were very enthusiastic. Van Haltern made a beautiful hit in the first inning for a home run. The work of all the Chicago team was fine. Score—Boston, 4 Chicago, 10.

PHILADELPHIA VS. PITTSBURG.

PITTSBURG, July 28.—The Philadelphias won to-day's game in the second inning on Beecher's errors. Pittsburg had most of the base hits to their credit, but they failed to use the bat effectively at the proper time. Score: Pittsburg 2, Philadelphia 4.

RESULT OF A CONTRACT.

STOCKTON, July 28,—The management of the A. & G. baseball club today enjoined Pitcher Larrigan from playing with the Pioneers at San Francisco on next Sunday. A constable is to be present at the game to arrest Larrigan and bring him back for sentence for contempt of court if he starts to play. An injunction was granted on the strength of the contract claimed by the A. & G.'s.

DISUNION THREATENED.

NEW YORK, July 28.—The Sun says that another startling baseball sensation was started yesterday. It was said that at least four of the American Association clubs were to resign unless the percentage system was adopted. Chris. Vonderake made the first break, and the Louisville, Cleveland and Metropolitan clubs are backing him. Taken all together, things are very blue, and a crash in baseball may be expeceted unles the great few give in.

Brought Back.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Among the arrivals from Seattle to-day was United States Marshal T. J. Hamilton, of Washington Territory, with C. W. Sawyer, a Benson surveyor, in custody. Sawyer was indicted for perjury and conspiracy by the Federal Grand Jury several months ago, but was not apprehended until last week. He was turned over to United States Marshal Franks, but afterwards gave bail.

The Trouble Ended.

NOGALES, July 28—The tie-up strike on the New Mexico, Arizona and Sonora Railroad at this place is virtually at an end, and trains are again running regularly without interruption. During the trouble there were no particular hostile demonstrations on the part of the dissatisfied brakemen and a good many of them returned to work after consultations with the officials.

Twelve Men Killed.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., July 28.—The railway accident here yesterday was caused by a section hand's mistake in connection with the bridge fire. Twelve persons died from their injuries and at least thirty injured, most of them slightly. The track was blocked nine hours. The killed and injured were nearly all employés of the construction train.

Taylor's Death-Place Unknown.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 28.—Taylor's body still lies at the Gardo house and will be transferred to the tabernacle early to-morrow. Thirty-eight thousand people viewed Brigham Young's remains, but it is not believed half that number will pass Taylor's bier. The church papers religiously abstain from giving any further facts concerning Taylor's death so that the place and cause are still shrouded in mystery.

A [illegible] Freight Train Wrecked.

ALBU[illegible]UERQUE, N. Y., July 28.—An accident t[illegible]o a freight train last night near Willia[illegible]ms, Ariz., on the Atlantic and Pacific [illegible]ailroad, caused the death of Brakeman [illegible] John Sparks, of Stewartsville, Va., an[illegible] considerable damage to property. Si[illegible] cars of lumber are reported as tota[illegible]lly destroyed by fire. The cause of the a[illegible]ccident is unknown here.

Requiescat [illegible] in Pace.

PORTLAND, July 28 [illegible].—A pontifical requiem mass was cel[illegible]brated to-day in the cathedral here for [illegible] the repose of the soul of Archbishop Se[illegible]hers. The cathedral main altar and th[illegible] [illegible]ones were draped in black. The servi[illegible]ces were conducted by Archbishop Gross, assisted by the clergy.

A New York Herald special says that United States Consul George telegraphed to Consul-General Phelan on Wednesday that the collector at Touris, Prince Edward's island, had refused to allow the fourteen men captured in seine boats on Sunday to go home in the fishing vessel. These men when taken had only their shirts and trousers and the Charlottetown consul thought this hard treatment, and telegraphed here for instructions. The reply of Phelan was promptly sent to send the men home by the first vessel sailing.

SENATOR SHERMAN

Endorsed by the Republicans of Ohio

AS PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE.

Declaration of the Platform—Foraker Accepts the Nomination for Governor.

[Associated Press Dispatches to the Herald.]

TOLEDO, O., July 28.—The Republican State Convention was called to order at 10 A. M. The reports of the committees on credentials and rules were adopted, and Governor Charles Foster, chairman of the committee on resolutions, read the platform.

THE PLATFORM

Begins with a strong protective tariff plank. The Ohio Democratic platform of tariff for revenue only, is strongly denounced. The resolutions urge Congress to pass a law to protect the United States from the inroads of Anarchists, Communists, Polygamists, fugitives from justice, dependent paupers and all others who seek our shores to war upon society.

The platform says on the labor question that the condition of those who labor in the North cannot be maintained or improved so long as those who labor in the South are wrongfully deprived of their rights and powers as American citizens. The platform next declares: "We have placed the war, with its hates and revenges, beyond us, but the settlements of the war are irresistible and must be respected, honored and observed in every part of the Republic."

Such duties on wool as will secure the American market to American producers are demanded. Liberal pensions to soldiers and sailors, adequate appropriations for improvement of national waterways and national aid to education are favored and if too much revenue be collected to meet public needs, the first step should be the abolition of the internal tax on American-grown tobacco.

The resolutions further declare that public lands should be sacredly held for the benefit of actual settlers, and advocate proper enforcement of the civil service law and condemn "the false pretenses of President Cleveland's administration regarding it." Sympathy for efforts to secure home rule for Ireland is expressed. The action of the President in vetoing the pension bills and the spirit manifested towards disabled soldiers is condemned. His veto of the dependent pension bill is characterized as unjust and unmerited.

Regarding the liquor traffic, the party pledges themselves to such further legislation as may be necessary to keep abreast of an enlightened public sentiment on the question.

In conclusion, the platform pays a tribute to the unfaltering loyalty and long services of John Sherman, whose genius and patriotism are stamped upon the statutes and constitution of the country, and presents his name to the people of the United States as a candidate for the Presidency, assuring them of hearty and cordial support and beliving his nomination will be a wise and just one.

ITS RECEPTION.

The tariff plank was received with loud cheers, and all received more or less applause. When the endorsement of Governor Foraker's administration was reached, the convention cheered as one man, many rising to their feet and swinging their hats, etc. Loud calls were made for Foraker. The rebel clause revived the demonstration.

When the last resolution of the famous Sherman indorsement was reached, cheering broke out again. On call from a delegate, three cheers were given for Sherman before the reading could continue. The close was marked by wild cheers. A motion was made to adopt the whole platform by acclamation. It was done unanimously, without a dissenting vote. Tremendous cheering followed and loud calls were made for Sherman. Sherman did not appear, and the committee on permanent organization was ready and its report was adopted.

Hon. John Sherman was made permanent chairman. A committee was appointed to conduct Sherman to the chair. The convention was in a good humor, being jubilant over the extinction of the opposition to the indorsement resolution, and cheered Senator Sherman to the echo as he took the platform.

SHERMAN'S SPEECH.

Senator Sherman thanked the convention for the honor of presiding over it and congratulated the members on the encouraging prospects for Republicanism in the State and nation. He eulogized Foraker and declared that the latter deserved both his popularity and his renomination as he had fairly earned both. Continuing, Sherman said: "More than that, Governor Foraker prevented the Democratic President from surrendering to the Confederates the flags and banners they lost in the rebellion." Sherman then reviewed the work of the late Republican Legislature, and commended it highly, and then discussed state questions at length. He recommended the platform, especially the tariff, pauper, labor and imported labor planks, and emphasized the demand in the platform for fairer Congressional elections. The Senator closed by thanking in the most heartfelt manner the Convention for its unanimous endorsement of him, saying: "I know this is a matter of sentiment, and I know that this resolution is of no importance unless the voters of the district of Ohio and of the Union shall, of their own free choice, elect delegates who will agree with you.

THE NOMINATIONS.

Dr. Graydon, of Cincinnati, nominated Governor Foraker for a second term, in a ten-minute speech. There was much cheering, and the motion to nominate by acclamation was carried amid whistling and cheers. A committee was appointed to escort Foraker to the hall, and the nomination for Lieutenant-Governor was proceeded with. Hon. Asa Bushnell, of Springfield, was named, but declined because of important business interests. Senator Thos. J. Pringle, of Springfield, was then named as candidate for the place.

FORAKER FOR GOVERNOR.

Governor Foraker was escorted to the platform amid cheers. He accepted the nomination for Governor and made a brief speech in which he made answer to some charges againt him, made by the Democratic platform recently adopted.

LYONS FOR LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR.

Captain Lyons, of Newark was chosen Lieutenant-Governor on the second ballot.

OTHER SELECTIONS.

Judge William Spear Trumbull, was then nominated Supreme Judge for the long term, by acclamation. For the short term Judge F. B. Dickman, present incumbent, was renominated on the first ballot. For State Auditor, E. W. Poe; Treasurer, J. C. Brown; Attorney-General, D. K. Watson; member of the Board of Public Works, C. A. Flyckingea.

ADVICE FOR BLAINE.

NEW YORK, July 28.—The Evening Post says: "The Blaine faction in Ohio has been pretty effectually extinguised for the time being by the Toledo convention and it is now almost certain that Illinois and Indiana will follow. The voice of the latter state will be heard and listened to in the south. Sherman has won a notable victory and it will be well for Blain to turn his steps homeward without delay, if he would counteract the wave that the Toledo convention started yesterday.

THE MASSACHUSETTS CONVENTION.

BOSTON, July 28.—At a meeting of the Republican State Central Committee to-day it was voted to hold the State convention in Boston on September 28th.

CONDENSED NEWS.

Reported by Correspondents of the Associated Press.

The Registrar and Receiver of the land office at San Francisco has been notified by Commissioner Sparks that the Judge of a court is not competent to take proof in pre-emption and commuted homestead cases. Secretary Lamar has recently decided that commuted homestead is pre-emption under the revised statutes, and that final proof might be made before any court of record. Commissioner Sparks now telegraphs through his assistant that proofs taken in this matter will be rejected. Thousands of proofs will be laid before the courts and the latest ruling by Commissioner Sparks is expected to further complicate government land titles.

The Chilian bark "Estella," Captain Giavinoni, arrived at San Francisco yesterday morning, sixty-seven days from Pisaqua, Chili. The captain reports serious insubordination on the whole trip, and an open outbreak on Tuesday night. The men, under the lead of the boatswain, armed themselves with knives, and prepared to attack the captain's quarters. The captain took revolvers and went on deck, and by prompt action prevented bloodshed.

A fire in Richardson Brothers' box factory, at Martin's Creek, four miles from Truckee, destroyed over one million feet of pine lumber, the entire saw mill and factory, and several hundred cords of wood belonging to the railroad company. The fire is supposed to be the result of an accident. The entire loss will not fall short of $30,000, with an insurance of $10,000.

An unknown man jumped from the Saucelito ferryboat on Wednesday evening and was drowned. He boarded the boat at Saucelito with several other persons. All were slightly intoxicated. After the deed was committed the others refused to give the man's name, and drove away upon arrival at this city.

An Examiner special from New York states that Roscoe Conkling, who has been retained in the Peralta land case, expresses the opinion that Mrs. Reavis is a lineal descendant of the original grantee of the land. The Examiner yesterday morning published interviews with a number of persons, giving incidents in the early life of the woman.

STANFORD

Before the Pacific Railway Commission.

THE THURMAN ACT CONDEMNED

Claims Introduced Against the Government as a Set-Off to the Lien on the Road.

Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—United States Senator Leland Stanford appeared in his capacity as President of the Southern Pacific railroad before the Pacific Railway Investigation Committee to-day to answer certain interrogations respecting the affairs of the Central Pacific railroad now consolidated with the Southern Pacific. The government commission had propounded fifty-eight interrgatories to President Stanford, who supplied written answers at great length and reviewed the history of the road and the position it assumes with respect to the government lien upon it.

STANFORD'S DECLARATIONS.

Stanford primarily declares that the Central Pacific was organized under the laws of California, and denies that anything in its contracts authorizes the present investigation on the part of the government, but concedes a willingness to answer any queries which may be propounded to its officials. He reviews the fact of the public agitation in 1860 and 1862 for the construction of a transcontinental railway, and reverts to the passage of the act of Congress for the construction of the Union Pacific to the California State line. In the meantime the Central Pacific had proceeded with the construction of a road over the Sierra Nevada mountains, which he claims had been regarded as impassable, when, in order to insure a speedy construction of that road across the continent, a supplemental act was passed by Congress authorizing the construction of both the Union and Central Pacific until they should meet. Stanford makes a claim that when the roads were undertaken, the Government was paying $8,000,000 annually for carrying military and Indian service supplies and the United States mail. Stanford contends that this compensation was to be paid to the railroad and that it was understood it would never be less, and that this compensation should be credited to the first principle and interest of the bonds and the company would also pay the Government 5 per cent. of its net earnings to apply on the bonds. He claims that this $8,000,000 and 5 per cent. of the net earnings would liquidate all the obligations to the Government before the expiration of thirty-five years. He claims that it was reduced to a point less than that allowed to the roads in the East. Stanford urges a further claim that the bonds, owing to the war of the rebellion being in progress, were disposed of at a discount of over $7,000,000. This discount, with interest on the same to maturity, he computes at $20,000,000 and there was also a like discount suffered in the sale of the first mortgage bonds. He then reviews the benefits bestowed by the construction of the road in the development of the country and speaks of Congressional legislation, in contrast, as having been unduly burdensome. He especially inveighs against the Thurman act, providing for

THE SINKING FUND.

He says that this fund has been invested by the Secretary of the Treasury in government bonds issued for the construction of Pacific railroads. These bonds were disposed of by the company at an average of about 70 cents on the dollar, at a loss, in the aggregate, on the principal of $7.000,000. The government charges interest on these bonds at the rate of 6 per cent on their par value. The secretary has invested the money, which the company has paid under the Thurman act in these bonds, paying an average premium therefor of thirty-four per cent. There has been paid in by the company to the sinking fund over $3,000,000, the loss on which in interest and premium up to the present time is $1,620,000. In fact, there is less money in the sinking fund to-day than the amount paid in by the company by over $500,000.

LOSSES BY COMPETITION.

Stanford declares that when the Central Pacific road was constructed no rival road was contemplated, but declares that the land subsidies to the Northern Pacific, Atlantic and Pacific and Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, were greater than to the Central Pacific, and claims that by the construction of these roads, aided by the government, the Central and Union Pacific roads have lost $37,000,000 in traffic. Making a summary, Stanford claims that by being compelled to sell their bonds received from the government it entailed a loss of $7,000,000, and with the interest added to the maturity the amount is swelled to $20,000,000 in round numbers.

CLAIMS PREFERRED.

He then claims that the government saved, from the completion of the road in May 1869 down to July 1st, 1876, in the way of transportation, nearly $48,000,000. Of this the Central Pacific was entitled to 46 per cent, or nearly $22,000,000. The government now owes the road for transportation, the legality of which has been sustained by the Supreme Court, $1,853,000. He also lays claim to a loss of $500,000 by the refusal of the government to grant the company patents for its lands. The loss by the sinking fund investments in the United States treasury is placed at $1,613,000. Finally by the loss of business due to the diversion of other subsidized roads, Stanford claims that the company has sustained a loss of $17,000,000 and President Stanford therefore informed the Commission that the road had a valid claim against the government of a round total of $63,000,000 to apply against the government lien on the road.

GENERAL RESUME.

Taking up seriatim the questions propounded by the Commission, Gov. Stanford replied to 43 out of the 58 before adjournment was announced. The answers are to the effect that the Central Pacific has always complied with the obligations imposed upon it by Congress, as it is the policy of the company. The net earnings of the widened roads are accounted for up to December 1, 1886. They amounted to $5,276,387. There has been no diversion of earnings of the widened roads to the less productive branches through constructive mileage, except between January, 1880, and February, 1883, and such constructive mileage allowances are fair and usual. No dividends have been unlawfully declared by the directors, or paid to the stockholders of the Central Pacific. No proceeds of any trust funds, as lands, loaned, advanced or granted, have been diverted from their lawful uses. No new stock or bonds have been issued, or any guarantees or pledges made contrary to or without authority of the law.

STANFORD'S SPECULATIONS.

"I am now," said Gov. Stanford, "interested in the following-named companies: California Pacific, 24,755 shares; Southern Pacific of California, 42,561.6; Southern Pacific of Arizona, 29,992.2 shares; Southern Pacific of New Mexico, 16,033.2 shares; Southern Pacific of Kentucky, 150,233.3 shares of stock; Stockton and Copperopolis, 586 shares; Berkeley branch, 231 shares; Amador branch, 1500 shares; Los Angeles and San Diego 370 shares; California and Oregon road, do not remember the amount; San Joaquin Valley road, do not remember; San Francisco, Oakland and Alameda, do not remember; Western Pacific, do not remember; Contract and Finance Company, 12,500 shares when disincorporated in 1874; Wells, Fargo & Company, 86 shares; Occidental and Oriental Steamship Company, 9995 shares; Western Development Company, 10,000 shares; Pacific Improvement Company, 12,560 shares; Lone Coal and Iron Company, 8000 shares; Rocky Mountain Coal and Iron Company, 1817 shares; Carbon Hill Coal Company have an interest in that company."

The total amount of stock in the Central Pacific is $100,000,000, of which $68,000,000 has been issued.

A QUEER CITY.

Universality of the Shrine and the Swinging Lamp.

Brindisi is a city of some 17,000 inhabitants, picturesque to a northerner because of its semi-tropical aspect, but otherwise a noisome hole to be avoided. It has a prodigiously long history, which may be to its credit or discredit. Virgil, as all the world knows, died here. If he were at all disposed to die, previous to reaching Brindisi on his way to Rome, this would seem to be the very place to carry him off. Even now its flat alluvial environs reek with malaria, but before the nineteenth century engineers inaugurated the large draining processes which keep its harbors from stagnating, it must have been a perfect plague pit. Had Horace continued the satire descriptive of his and Mecenas' journey from Rome to Brindisi, the epilogue might have told us that he was laid by the heels in the Brindisium, which was "longæ finis viæ." But the assumption is fair that, since he does but name the place, whereas elsewhere on the journey he finds words of praise or dispraise to bestow, Brindisi in his time was remarkable for nothing except being the terminus of the Appian Way.

We walked through and round about the city, and found much to amuse us. Many of the old Venitian buildings survive, though their exceedingly ornate porticoes are in no harmony with the undignified mortals who swarm on the different flats of the lodging houses which degrade these fine houses. The streets are narrow and the buildings so tall that the sun can have little to do with the thoroughfares. But as if the urban architecture were not arranged to secure sufficient coolness for the townspeople, these love best, it seems, to live in low dark basements or cellar rooms, that look as if they were cut out of a rock. Whole families herd in a single room. The two or three great beds that stand at angles to each other will each hold four or five individuals. Some we see already occupied in the afternoon. But ordinarily the inhabitants of the house are sprawling about the threshold, or turning the spinning-wheel, or kneading dough, or making boots. One feature is never wanting in these habitable caves—a gaudy little shrine in one of the corners facing the door, with a swing lamp hanging before a picture or model of the Virgin—[All the Year Round.

All Sorts.

"Yes," said Bobby's father, as he stroked his little boy's head fondly, "Bobby is keeping a bank for his odd pennies and nickels. And how much have you got saved up, Bobby?" "Twelve cents," he replied, "besides the $3.25 that you owe it."—New York Times.

Enough to Break Up Any Man: "Hello, major," said the judge this morning. "I haven't seen you for a week; where have you been?" "Been home sick as as a dog," replied the major. "You! Why, you were always as healthy as could be. What in the world made you ill?" "Well, I tried to follow some rules on health I saw in the papers."—[Pittsburg Chronicle.

A brave man shrinks: "How's this, John? You said you intended to propose to Miss Gushington this evening, and here you are back before 9 o'clock. She surely didn't refuse you?" "No-o, I didn't propose. I concluded to postpone the question." "Now, see here, John, if you don't get that girl it's your own fault. The idea of being such a coward. You, who have bravely walked up to the cannon's mouth." "Y-e-s, but the cannon hadn't been eating onions."—[New York Mercury.

He still held them responsible: "Look here, sir!" he said at the chief clerk's window in the postoffice. "I've been trying for half an hour to unlock my postoffice box." "Yes, I know it." "But the key won't fit." "Of course it won't. No man's front door key will unlock his postoffice box." "Oh, yes, I see. Yes, that's it, I got 'em mixed, of course. But look here, sir! I want it understood that I excuse none of the shortcomings of the postoffice department on this account, not a single one."—[Detroit Free Press.

GENERAL NEWS.

The President Tenders Some Good Advice

TO INVITATION COMMITTEES.

Foreign News Received by Cable from the Other Side of the Atlantic.

Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The President to-day received a telegram from Senator Harris, saying that a committee of one hundred citizens of Memphis was coming to Washington to invite the President to visit that city during his western trip. The President telegraphed to Senator Harris in reply, to use his influence to prevent any movement of the sort. He said that while he will always be pleased to see people of Tennessee at the Capitol, he thinks that they ought to be spared a long journey to Washington during the heated term on a mission of this sort, when written invitations sent by mail would be as effective and as much appreciated. Similar answers will be sent to other western cities where arrangements are being made to send invitation by committees to Washington. It is stated at the White House that the President will give the same consideration to the invitations received by mail as to those borne by committees, no matter how large and impressive they may be.

OLD WORLD NEWS.

Why the Drop in Russian Stocks Took Place in Germany.

BERLIN, July 28.—The Berlin Post, in an article on Russian securities, says that the ukase of March 26th shook the foundation of Germany's confidence in the security of real and personal property in Russia. "Public discussion," says the paper, "has disclosed the questionable character of the Russian credit, and had the ukase not been issued, Russia might possibly still enjoy the blind and undeserved confidence of German investors."

TO BE ROYALLY RECEIVED.

LONDON, July 28.—Prince Ferdinand is expected at Sofia early in August to take the oath of office. The Bulgarian government has sent to the officials of the various towns through which the Prince will pass an order to receive the new ruler with due honor.

BOULANGER'S PUGNACITY.

PARIS, July 28.—Le Courier du Soir reports that General Boulanger has requested official permission to challenge M. Ferry to fight a duel, on account of the ex-premier's recent speech at Epinal.

TOBACCO CORNERED.

An Enormous Increase--The End not Yet.

NEW YORK, July 28.—The statement is printed here that great excitement prevails among tobacco dealers and manufacturers at the present time and prices on leaf tobacco increased 50 to 100 per cent. during July and the end is not yet. The principal cause of this increase is the fact that a very short crop is anticipated. This is due to two causes; first the extremely low prices for tobacco prevailing last year disgusted many growers so that this season they have curtailed their planting, and in many cases abandoned it altogether. Added to this, the long continued drouth in the tobacco regions is expected to entail a grave lessening of the small crop. With this knowledge it is said that for sometime past speculators have been quietly buying in all the leaf tobacco they could get, and a remarkable rise in prices is consequent upon the "corner."

CONVICTING TESTIMONY

Offered in the Trial of the Boodlers Yesterday.

CHICAGO, July 28.—Robert Hill, of the wholesale dry goods firm of Starn & Hill, testified to-day in the boodle trial that in order to obtain trade from the county he had to present wardens Varnell, McGarigle and Frey with about $1800 worth of merchandise yearly for their personal use.

W. H. Gray detaile the manner in which he turned over $3000 to the gang for giving him an artesian well contract.

Three of defendants lawyers Mills, Ingham and Forest to-day withdrew from the case absolutely.

THE LITTLE LEHIGH

Overflows Its Banks—A Watery Vista.

READING, Pa., July 28.—Owing to the recent storms and swelling of small streams, the Little Lehigh river this morning overflowed its banks and the water dashed into a large number of iron ore mines in Long Swamp township, this county. Some of the shafts are 150 feet deep, and are all filled up, and the fifteen acres of ground where the mines are situated are covered with water, presenting the appearance of a good sized lake. Men are out of employment in consequence, and many of them had narrow escapes as the water rushed into the mines very rapidly. The loss to owners is very heavy.

Prohibition Work.

CHICAGO. July 28.—The chairman of the National Committee Prohibition Party to-day issued a call for a meeting of that committee in Chicago on November 16th next to fix the time and place for the national nominating convention of 1888 etc.

On November 17th a general conference of Prohibitionists is to be held here for consultation and suggestions and invitation is extended to all members of the party to be present.

Indians on the Warpath.

LORDSBURG, N. M., July 28.—On Sunday five Indians, supposed to be hostile, opened fire on Henry Pinny as he was on his way to a new silver strike near Alma. He returned the fire and fled to Alma. A posse has started out to investigate.

DAILY HERALD.

WHO KILLED HER?

Mrs. Henry Kegel Dies at the Sisters' Hospital

OF HER INTERNAL INJURIES

A Record of the Courts Showing the Animosity of the Parties.

Between half past 11 and 12 o'clock yesterday morning Mrs. Alice Kegel died at the Sisters' Hospital, probably from injuries inflicted by the hands of some other party. Mrs. Kegel was taken to the Sisters' Hospital on Tuesday afternoon by her husband who had brought her from their ranch in the Cañon del Oro in San Fernando township. On Wednesday morning Dr. Kannon, the surgeon of the hospital, saw her and found that she was suffering from a fractured rib. She was spitting blood and appeared to be injured internally. In reply to Dr. Kannon's quessions she said that she had been beaten by a neighbor named Hall. She had been alone in the house when Hall went there and taking advantage of the situation beat her. Dr. Kannon seeing that her injuries were dangerous asked her if she would not see the Sheriff in regard to the matter. She said she would not. She wanted to wait until she saw her husband and then she would have Hall arrested. Dr. Kannon insisted on her seeing the Sheriff, but she refused to listen to the proposition and when asked why Hall had beaten her said because he had been arrested on her complaint but got off without sentence. She said she had no witnesses, but reiterated the statement that Hall had beaten her with a hatchet and had broken her rib. Dr. Kannon yesterday morning went to the Sheriff's office hearing that Mrs. Kegel was worse, and asked Deputy Sheriff Cooney to take some paper to the hospital and obtain the woman's statement. They then started for the hospital but when they reached their destination they found that Mrs. Kegel was dead. Coroner Meredith was notified of the occurrence and took posssession of the body. He has made arrangements to hold an inquest this afternoon at two o'clock, when it is probable that a very interesting story will be uncovered.

There is a story in relation to the Kegels and Mr. A. W. Hall, which has been rehearsed before the public many times and it is probable that the death of Mrs. Kegel will put a stop to the matter. In the early part of the present year the troubles of these parties who reside on government land in the Cañon del Oro were brought to the notice of the public. It appeared that the Kegels were living on land over which Hall had to pass in gaining ingress and egress to the land which he occupied. On February 17th Hall appeared in the office of United States Commissioner Van Dyke and complained of Henry Kegel and his wife, for having obstructed the free passage over the government land. He said that the Kegels had built a fence across the road, and when he tried to go to his own land both Mr. and Mrs. Kegel chased him away with shot guns, and threatened to kill him. In consequence of these threats he stated that he was forced to climb over the mountains to get into town. The examination was set for March 12th, and in the meantime it appears that some one told the Kegels that they had better get married or else their side of the case would be of little account. Hall stated, and it was known by other parties that Kegel and the woman, whose real name was Alice Stoll, had been living together in an unmarried state. On the 26th of February they obtained a license from the County Clerk and tried to get Justice Taney to marry them, but he was not in the court-room, and on the 28th of February they appeared before Justice Austin, who united them. The case came on for examination, Mr. and Mrs. Kegel appearing for themselves. They admitted having built the fence but denied having uttered threats. Kegel was held to answer, and this case is still pending.

On April 14th Henry Kegel was charged by Thomas Riley, who claimed to be going to visit Hall, with obstructing the free passage over government land. He also stated that Mr. and Mrs. Kegel went after him with shotguns. There was no corroborating testimony, as Hall stated that he was not present. The case was then dismissed.

On the same day Henry Kegel swore out a complaint against Hall, charging him with cutting timber on government land. The examination of this charge came up before U. S. Commissioner Van Dyke on the 30th of April, when the testimony was very weak. It was proven that Hall had only cut brush and shrubs. On motion of the U. S. District Attorney the charge was dismissed.

These were all the cases brought in the U. S. Courts, but since then Hall has dropped into United States Commissioner Van Dyke's office and complained that he had been chased over the hills by the Kegels. The local courts have, however, been occupied considerably with the Kegels and Hall. On March 7th Kegel was arrested and charged with threats against the life of Hall. The case was tried before Justice Taney and the charge dismissed. On March 24th Mrs. Kegel was charged with threats against Hall's life and was placed under $300 bonds. On April 14th Henry Kegel was arrested aad charged with threats against Hall and placed under $300 bonds to keep the peace. On the same day Hall was similarly charged by Kegel and his bond was also fixed at $300. On July 1st Hall was charged with disturbing the peace of the Kegels, but the charge was dismissed. These cases all came up before Justice Taney, who also had a civil suit brought before him by Hall against Kegel to recover the possession of a brindled cow and heifer and $50 damages. It was claimed that this cow of Hall's had wandered into the domain of the Kegels, who refused to deliver her to Hall, even after he had offered to pay expenses. On the other hand the Kegels claimed that the cow had gone into the vineyard and they had tied her up, but were willing to deliver her upon payment of damages. The case was transferred to Justice P. C. Cavillo's court at Santa Monica, where it is still pending.

An outsider might imagine that the Kegels and Hall had enough on their hands in these cases, but such was not the fact for in looking over the docket in Justice Austin's Courtroom it is found that on February 5th Hall charged Kegel with exhibiting a deadly weapon. This charge was dismissed, but on July 1st Hall again swore to a complaint charging Kegel with threats against life. This case is still pending.

Nor were these the only cases for it is stated that several cases have been before the Justice at San Fernando and elsewhere. This record makes it certain that there was not a very amicable feeling between the Kegels and Hall. It was learned yesterday that Hall was in the city on Wednesday and that he had heard of the illness of Mrs. Kegel, for he told a deputy constable that Henry Kegel had been on another drunk and had kicked Mrs. Kegel. He said he was glad he was not around at that time, or else she would charge him with the deed. Afterward he appeared at the Sheriff's office and said he had heard there was a warrant out against him. He was told there was not, and as the woman had not yet died, no attempt was made to arrest him. It is stated that when Mrs. Kegel appeared in the cases brought before United States Commissioner Van Dyke, she seldom presented herself without having a bruise or a fresh scar on her face and claimed they had been made by Hall; but as will be seen by the record nothing was ever done in relation to the matter. It was also stated that Mrs. Kegel was formerly a notorious woman about town under the name of Alice Stoll, and that prior to her taking up with Kegel he had lived a very peaceable life. It is probable that both Kegel and Hall will be arrested and charged with the crime. The inquest will be held this afternoon, prior to which time an autopsy will he held to determine the cause of death.

THE CHAUTAUQUA.

Proceedings at the Long Beach Assembly Yesterday.

At 10 o'clock Dr. Widney delivered a very interesting lecture on "The Anglo-Teuton:" "You will remember at the close of the last lecture I had given an account of the migration of the Teuton across the Atlantic, the Hollander in New York, etc. They were somewhat different in make, build and mental characteristics, but they were careless and lost their distinctive nationalities. The reason was their isolation and loneliness. They became brothers. Those a hundred miles away were neighbors. Another common danger was that the country was filled by savage Indians. This misled them. The different colonies formed unions for their defense. Another important factor was the sparseness of foreign. So a coastwide commerce sprung up between them, the New Yorker having to get his tobacco from Virginia, etc.

Another factor, the French war; and again the war with the mother country united them. It was also by the intermarriage of the different colonies. This led to the fulfillment of that law, the "survival of the fittest." There is still national peculiarity, but still not so well defined. At length the Spaniards came to a point easy of access and filled with gold, Mexico. They brought their own civilization and religion; they lost their own vitality and good points by miscegenation, mixing with the Indians, by an unalterable law of nature. The English, Hollanders and Scandinavians mixing did not have this effect, for it was not mixing with inferiors. In the former case the progeny was a sort of hybrid—they must die out. Here he dwelt on the law among the races of Europe. The thousand years called the "dark ages," was from this miscegenation. Mongolianism was the result.

In the whole history of the modern world the Asian is the only race capable of self government and they don't miscegenate.

Here he drew a comparison between France and England, the latter of which was a form of monarchy, but in essence, a republic.

DR. OSTRANDER'S NORMAL CLASS.

The exercises were opened by repeating the first psalm in concert by the class, followed by silent prayer. Dr. Ostrander then introduced his morning subject: "The Bible from God." Bible is from the Greek word Biblor, meaning the book. It is more to us than the other six bibles of the world. There are four copies of it sold to one of any other book. When Walter Scott was dying he said to his attendant, "Bring me the Book," meaning the Bible. Indeed, it is the only book of the world.

There are four claims for the Bible. First: Its genuineness. It is not a substitute but the original. Translators agree to this and manuscripts of all classes and kinds prove its originality. Quotations though in different words, in substanee are the same. In 200,000 quotations there are not six that differ materially. There are various readings that affirm the originality of the Bible; its enemies only serve to show its originality by their quotations, and coppyists are perfectly accurate in their manuscripts. All this proves the genuineness of the word of God. The second claim of the Bible is its authenticity; its perfect truth; the record of what has happened and the prophecy of the future. The third claim is that it is inspired. Inspiration is an extraordinary divine agency coming upon teachers while giving instruction, oral or written, by which they are taught what and how to speak or write.

Fourth—The claim of authority. The first three prove the last and show God's claim upon us; prove the Bible as from God and teach us the rule of faith and duty.

To prove and hold the four claims above we have ten lines of evidence. First—Adaptation to the herds of the race proving that there is a God; that God is law; that we are under God through knowledge of that law and gain that knowledge in the Bible. Second—The universal acceptance of the Bible. The early, the continuous, and the present acceptance of this book prove it to be original and from God and not a mythical romance. Third—The characteristics of the Bible including variety, harmony, unity and progressiveness. Not two scientists can agree upon a subject, while the Bible, with all its writers, is one perfect whole linked together like a collection of pearls upon the silken cord of truth. Fourth—The harmony in relation to things. Proof of the sacred book as inspired and from God is manifested in the existing institutions and the historical monuments of to-day. Fifth—The fulfillment of prophecy as to persons, places, nations and the greatest person in the Bible—Christ. Sixth—Concerning the person of Christ as to his history, life and teaching. The life of Christ alone more than proves the truth of the Bible. Seventh—The candor of the writers, Moses, Paul, Luke and the historians with equal candor tell us of their vileness as well as their purity, of their faults as well as their virtues. Eighth—The elevating teachings of the Bible showing the pure, noble, lofty and tender character of God as compared with the innumerable other gods who are pictured to us; they as vile and low and inhuman as brutes. Ninth: The influence of the Bible upon the world; upon individuals; upon nations; showing the character of the enlightened people against those yet in darkness; the superiority of our nation over China and the dark countries.

Tenth—The power of experience; only the true Christian can understand faith in prayer, and can be ready to stand by the bedside of a dying friend and say, "I will meet you in the morning." There is trust there in God, and holy, earnest faith in his love.

PART SECOND—METHOD OF TEACHING.

What does the word illustrate mean? Adding lustre or light where darkness was before. It is God's method of teaching. It arrests the attention; it quickens the apprehension; it aids the memory; it arouses conscience. There are four worlds from which to draw our illustrations: The world of sight, of comparison, of imagination, of knowledge. To use these correctly you must have a clear knowledge of the object; must be observant; must preserve this memory and practice and retain. If possible, draw illustrations from the lessons, and have the scholars help you, and don't use too many illustrations, as they are apt to confuse rather than lighten the brain of a young scholar.

THE ROUND TABLE.

At 5 o'clock Rev. Mr. Stevens delivered an address on the German University. There are twenty-one ministers. Heidelberg has just celebrated its bi-millenial anniversary. Most of these universities were founded by petty princes and hence have failed, showing that there is a tendency to consolidation. The university is a culmination of a certain system of education. The schools are supported by the government. They will have the people educated. The government requires all between 7 and 14 to attend the common school. The gymnasium is in Germany what our colleges are in this country. It differs in this: It graduates younger students than our colleges. The students are required as, John Stuart Mill says, to learn "everything of something, and something of everything." There are four things in the curriculum: Law. Theology, Philosophy and Medicine. All these are not required. Special lines are pursued thoroughly. It is mostly theoretical and speculative. The object is not to fit men for practical life, but to be thinkers. It is not so much a school as a laboratory, unlike American colleges, with a fixed system of study, every man is left free to choose for himself. But no man can occupy a place of trust, either civil or ecclesiastical till receiving a diploma from the University. He described the buildings, venerable with age, without architectural beauty and without elegant furnishing. A stranger would be surprised at the plainness of the professors. But they make up in thought what they lack in elegance. Many were, doubtless, more surprised to hear him say, they did not even teach morality. Beer-drinking was a profession; drinking an honor; not to kill, but as a gladiatorial exhibition, testing the strength and skill of the combatants. Few left the University without the honored scar made by the sword of his antagonist. Before entering the university, they are required to spend one year in military service to make them robust.

Rev. Dr. Weller made a few remarks, to the effect that the system of German education, had its advantages, but he would not like to see the German University established in America. Especially did he condemn in scathing language the practice of dueling.

SAN GABRIEL VALLEY

Land and Water Company

INCORPORATED MAY 20TH, 1887.

Capital Stock, - - $1,600,000.

—WITH THE FOLLOWING OFFICERS—

H. H. MARKHAM, President.
L. W. DENNIS, Vice-President.
E. P. JOHNSON, Treasurer.
A. L. BURBANK, Secretary.
F. L. RAYMOND, Supt. and Manager.

DIRECTORS--H. H. Markham, L. W. Dennis, C.H. Bradley, F. L. Raymond, N. Vanderlip.

Have recently purchased the famons property, known as the Ford, Titus, Gibbs, Ames, Bradbury, Clap and Howard, more recently known as the Hall & Stillson tract,

Have subdivided part of the above named into fine business and resident lots, also a great many one-acre villa tracts, and located a new town,

EAST SAN GABRIEL.

Ten miles from the Plaza on the Southern Pacific Railroad, in the heart of the San Gabriel Valley.

The immense improvements contemplated by the company consist of laying out San Gabriel Boulevard, about four miles long, running north and south, connecting Almanda Park with El Monte Road. Two other fine Avenues, crossing the San Gabriel Boulevard, at right angles, known as Broadway and Grand Central; building a Street Car line, Hotel; piping water from the Titus place, which affords an inexhoustible supply. In connection with other improvements, the Southern Pacific Railroad Company have already given orders to build one of the finest depots in Southern California, Warehouses, Freight Depot, etc.

The freight shipment from this point last year being over 44,000,000 pounds, it is most conclusive evidence that it is the place for banks, stores, warehouses, etc.—where monies invested in buildings of this kind will pay large dividends from the start

The property offered for sale being located on either side of the railroad, makes the whole tract central and accessable to the business portion of the town.

The company now offer the property for sale on the following liberal terms: One-third cash; deferred payments in one and two years, at 8 per cent. per annum.

FRIDAY, JULY 29, 1887.

That Grand Jury Report.

Too frequently men called together by our courts to act in the capacity of grand jurymen do their work in so perfunctory and slipshod a manner as to make the whole business little more than a farce. This cannot be said of the citizens called to act in these functions by the courts of Los Angeles county during the past two years. They have done their duty in a thorough, painstaking and fearless way, which will not fail to commend itself to all good citizens in the community. The preamble to the report of the last grand jury, which appeared in the columns of the HERALD yesterday morning, sets forth in lucid language the duties imposed on such bodies. To the following words one wants to cry aloud, Hear! Hear!

"The Grand Jury called by your order, July 11, 1887, have carefully listened to your charge and after due and careful investigation, and with malice toward none, have seen the path of their plain duty before them and entered upon it with deliberation and pursued it without passion and without faltering. Foreseeing how much unfitness must be exposed, they drew the lines with care, and have endeavored not too overstep them in any case or under any provocation. Such of any man's acts concerning his fitness for public trust are only alluded to in our annexed report, which we hereby submit. Accountability in all things is the true basis on which to perform public service. We insist that the same degree of care is requisite in the performance of public duties as in private. When public officers assume that there is no one in particular to whom they are responsible; that neglect and carelessness will be overlooked, and that if they commit no glaring criminal act they will not be called to account, the public service is sure to become demoralized; while, on the contrary, the knowledge that every civil officer, from the highest to the lowest, will be held to the strictest responsibility for all his official acts tends to secure the highest efficiency and faithfulness."

The public officials come in for a good deal of animadversion at the hands of the Grand Jury. The irregularities discovered in the methods of these derelict office-holders may have been, as they claim, the result of ignorance and not of willful malfeasance in office. This does not make it any less the duty of the Grand Jury to report that they find the books of these gentlemen in n the case of the Public Administrator it may be recalled that some ears ago, when he was School Trustee at Downey City and acted as Secretary of the Board, his books are currently reported to have been kept in the same state of inextricable confusion. If we mistake not that lack of knowledge of law and bookkeeping cost the district some $2000 of its fund, and we do not remember ever to have seen any satisfactory explanation from Mr. Decker or any of his friends, as to just what became of that money. Clean and regular bookkeeping is a prime factor in the administration of any public trust, and the official who does not know the laws relating to his duty had better learn them with all possible promptness. If he is too ignorant to comprehend the law or the rules of business, he is not qualified for the office, and should remedy the defect in the only possible way—by resigning.

"Most admired disorder."

As to the Auditor, the statement of the Grand Jury that had Mr. Montaño done his duty in the case of El Hammond, the defaulting Tax Collector, one-third of the deficit might have been saved the county is quite sufficient. The Auditor holds the key to all the offices, and lack of care on his part may prove fatal to the interests of the county. Mr. Montaño pleads the onerous duties of his office as an excuse. With this the Grand Jury has nothing to do. That is not within the purvey of its functions. There is this to be said, that had Mr. Montaño's Democratic opponent been elected to the office, Mr. Preuss would have clean books to show.

And in this connection it certainly is a matter of note that of the Democratic county officers not one of them is found derelict in his duty to the slightest degree. More than this, the Grand Jury speaks with special emphasis of the perfect method found to obtain in the offices of several of these gentlemen. Notably in the Sheriff's office, where Mr. Kays and his deputies exhibit a clean bill of health, and also in the important office of the District Attorney. It cannot be charged that there was any partisanship in the making of this report. For Messrs. Toberman, Hamilton, Barrows, McComas and others are not blessed with a belief in the Jeffersonian creed.

The strictures of the Grand Jury on road matters will commend themselves to the attention of any luckless wight whom necessity compels to have to ride much over our public thoroughfares. The state in which Temple street is left would do violence to a corduroy road through a western swamp at the breaking up of a hard winter.

The following extract certainly suggests that there is much room for improvement in the police office.

"We inquired into the cause of so many robberies that are committed in the county and city of Los Angeles, and why the robbers were so seldom caught, and found a most horrible state of affairs and no written law to punish some of the parties. Fences, or harborers of thieves, exist, who have full knowledge of those robberies and who protect the thieves. The keeper of one notorious den has twenty-two men as accomplices, whom he protects, and when a robbery is committed and reported, the Chief of Police, and on some occasions certain favored policemen or constables, repair at once to this den and receive the assurance that the plunder had been seen and the keeper of the den or fence can be hired for a money consideration guaranteed by a written order from police headquarters to see that a portion of the plunder is returned, and this business has been successfully carried on for nearly two years and the money has been paid to the proprietor of the den by the police officers, in some cases after they had possession of the stolen property. The Police Commissioners must have lax notions to permit the force under their control to be a party to this scandal for a long period."

The present administration got into the police office under a cry of corruption and promise of reform as loud as ever was raised. The rascally Democrats were replaced by that model of wisdom and pattern of purity, McCarthy. Later came the removal of Davis under charges preferred by his own clique. The present incumbent is the third trial, but judging from the above findings of the grand jury, the charm has not come with the lucky number. If these things be true, the Police Commissioners' duty to the city to see to it at once that we have a more efficient force.

The suggestions to provide a temporary place of safety for the county records and that less whisky be used in the County Hospital are wide apart in their relative importance, but they are both in the line of what is proper, and both should be carried out. Good citizens owe it to the community at large to uphold and encourage such Grand Juries is that which has made this report.

IN its platform, the Republican party of Ohio develops some principles worthy of attention. A strong leaning to Americanism crops out albeit in a covert manner. The party has always openly favored unrestricted Chinese immigration. In the hordes of Mongols coming to our shores it is hard to discover a redeeming feature. The most bestial vices are common habits among the heathen of the far east. Many of these they have transplanted to our state. But the Ohio Republicans call emphatically for a restriction to be put upon immigration from Europe. The matter is veiled under such names as anarchists, communists, paupers, etc. Doubtless there is room for some judicious limitations in this respect; but it is like stopping the spigot to let it run at the bung to allow Chinese to come without restriction while Europeans are let enter by a sort of artificial selection. Then the convention wants "Such duties on wool as will secure the American market to American producers." The party goes into throes of pretended amusement over alleged splits in the Democracy on the tariff question. They are about as far apart on this matter in their own camp. A duty on wool sounds well to Ohio Republicans who have sheep; but it is poison to those in New Hampshire who run spindles. To meet the difficulties growing out of the vast revenues derived from a war system of taxation, a suggestion is made to take the tax off tobacco. Here is popular interest with a vengence! Tax wool so that Ohio's rich sheep raisers may be made richer, and that every poor man in the land may pay more for the blanket he sleeps under, and for the yard of flannel he wraps his baby in, but take the tax off the tobacco so necessary to his well being! That has been at all times the tariff policy of the party. Put the tax where it will do the rich most good and the poor most harm. even to the extent of giving to the wife of the millionaire her attar of roses free, while the laborer pays two prices for the salt that goes in his porridge! Tax the poor man's blanket, but let the fragrant "two-bit" weed be sold for half price! Then how refreshing to hear Ohio Republicans pleading to have "public land sacredly held for actual settlers!" What a pity there was no one to remind them that their own party took the tax off wool to help the millionaire manufacturers of New England; and that their own party had robbed the actual settlers of a large moiety of the best lands in the public domain to enrich the millionaire railroad corporations!

"THE false pretenses of President Cleveland's administration regarding it"—meaning civil service—is the way the Ohio Republican platform "views with apprehension" the ways of the naughty Democrats. What would they have? The President has carried out with a punctillious sense of honor the letter as well as the spirit of the law on civil service, and has kept to the full his pledges in that regard. In spite of the clamors of his own party he has scrupulously kept men in office whose every act was opposed not only to the party of Mr. Cleveland, but also to himself personally. Let the Republicans get into power again and the axe of decapitation will be broad enough to chop off the head of every luckless Democrat at a single blow. They themselves are authority for this statement. Woe betide the Republican who should venture before an Ohio Convention after he had been guilty of letting a Democrat draw one month's salary under him!

ANNOUNCEMENT—THE ALAMEDA Street Syndicate. A few Shares still remain untaken in the Syndicate formed to purchase, subdivide, and put on the market, in Residence Lots, 41¼ acres on Alameda street at $1250 per acre. Investors are informed that on and after WEDNESDAY, the 27th JULY, the price of Shares will be based on the rate of $1500 per acre. This advance in price for the valuable property now offered, is justified by the enormous improvements now in progress, including the Street Car line now building along the Santa Fe avenue front of the property, the projected Cable Road along Alameda street front, and the proposed Street Car line down Central Avenue near by.

No surrounding property can be had for less than $2000 per acre; and until Wednesday, the 27th July, when, as before stated, the price will be raised to $1500 per acre. One or more Tenths may be secured by a cash payment of $1156.25 for each Tenth interest.

Quick Courtships.

A young man at a church bazar was buttonholed by a young lady, she would not let him go until he bought something. He looked at her stall, which contained fancy work of various kinds. "Why," he said, "I see nothing here that would be of the least use to me, a bachelor, except yourself. The rest would be dear to me at any price." "I will be cheap enough," she said coaxingly. "If you could be dear enough, perhaps—." "Oh, come! you are just the person I want," taking him by the arm. She sold him one article after another, keeping up an agreeable conversation the while, and before all was done he had purchased everything on the stall. Then, on settling up, there was something said about discount. "I cannot return any money," she said, "but if you think me dear enough, there's mamma; she may give you my hand." The bargain was accordingly concluded.

An eminent doctor who had saved the life of a lady, a personal friend, was asked his charge. He said he generally allowed his patient friends to remunerate him as they thought befitting. "But don't you often get disappointed on these terms?" she inquired. "I may say never." "As you are so easily pleased, here," and she playfully gave him her empty hand, while in the other was concealed a check for a handsome sum. "How easily I could have taken you in!" she added, producing the check. "But you have only succeeded in drawing me out," he said, declining to relinquish her hand; "don't insult me with a check. I am most generously rewarded." Perhaps she understood the doctor's difficulty and wished to help him out of it. At any rate, the giving of her hand led him to offer his heart.

A lady with a fine figure having taken a fancy to a valuable ring which she saw ticketed in a shop window, went inside to examine it. "It is exceedingly lovely; I wish it were mine," she said, on satisfying herself. "What small figure could tempt you?" "No other figure than the figure before me," he said, giving her an admiring look at the same time. "It is exceedingly lovely. I wish—I could tempt you with the ring." "I think I'll take it," she said, laying down the money amid blushes. Of course he accepted the money, but getting her address, he made such good use of the hint that the next ring that she got was given by him in church.

A lady in a railway train kept looking out of the window, with her head forward, until she remembered that the gentleman opposite might possibly object. "Do I cut off the view?" she asked. "Merely of all I do not wish to see," he replied gallantly. The ice having been thus broken, they entered into conversation, found that they were to get out at the same station, and knew each others's friends. The rest was plain sailing into what somebody calls the "matrimonial haven."

"Are you married yet, Kitty?" said a sailor, after meeting an old acquaintance after returning from a long voyage. "No, that somebody has never come." "Ah, then, I have brought him after a deal of bother," he said, throwing his arms around her, and the matter was there and then settled. —[New York News.

MISTAKES IN LANGUAGE.

Words and Phrases to Avoid in Conversation.

The professor of English literature at Wellesley college has prepared the following list of words and phrases to be avoided in conversation and writing:

Guess, for suppose or think.

Fix, for arrange or prepare.

Ride or drive, interchangeably.

Real, as an adverb, instead of really, as real good.

Some, for somewhat. I have studied some.

Some ten days, for about ten days.

Storms, for rains.

Try an experiment, for make an experiment.

Singular subject with contracted plural verb, as she don't skate well.

Plural pronoun with singular antecedent; every man or women should do their duty.

Expect, for suspect.

First-rate as an adverb.

Had rather, for would rather.

Right away, for immediately.

Party, for person.

Promise, for assure.

Posted, for informed.

Post graduate, for graduate.

Depot, for station.

Nice, indiscriminately.

Stopping, for staying.

Try and do, for trying to do.

Cunning, for small.

Cute, for acute.

Funny, for odd.

Above, for foregoing.

Looks good enough, for well enough.

Somebody else's, for somebody's else.

Like, for as.

Not as good, for notso good.

Feel badly, for feel bad.

Feel good, for feel well.

Between seven, for among seven.

Seldom or ever, for seldom if ever, or seldom or never.

More than you think for, for more than you think.

These kind, for this kind.

Nicely, in reply to inquiry for health.

Healty, for wholesome.

Just as soon, for just as lief.

Kind of, to indicate a moderate degree.

Matter of, instead of the matter with.—[Chicago Ledger.

WHY WILL YOU SUFFER from Ague and Malaria when Gilmore's Aromatic Wine will cure you.—C. F. Heinzeman, agent, Los Angeles.

If the food is not properly digested it becomes corrupt and poisons the system it is intended to nourish. This is indigestion.

"My wife has suffered for many years with indigestion. After trying everything else recommended, she tried Simmons Liver Regulator. In three days after taking it according to directions she was in perfect health; she does not suffer at all and can eat anything she wants without any of her previous symptoms."

Heroes and Heroines.

There are few who endure bodily troubles without complaint. Did you ever meet among the heroes or heroines of your acquaintance—if any such there have been—one with a yellowish cast of countenance and that jaundiced aspect generally, which the most unpracticed eye recognizes as the product of a disordered liver, who did not complain, and peevishly too, of the soreness of the recalcitrant organ, of pains beneath the right shoulder blade, of dyspeptic symptoms, constipation and headache? Of course you never did and of course the individual was NOT using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, or he would not so have looked—so have complained. To purify the blood when contaminated with bile, and conduct the secretion into its proper channel, to re-establish regularity of the bowels, banish bilious headache and remove impediments to complete digestion, nothing can approach in efficacy this peerless alterative and tonic. Malarial complaints, always involving the liver and kidney and bladder inactivity, are remedied by it. It is a capital appetizer.

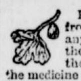
Valuable and Convenient.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES are widely known as an admirable remedy for Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Coughs and other troubles of the Throat and Lungs. They contain no hurtful ingredients, but may at all times be used with safety. Sold only in boxes. Price 25 cents.

The Latest and Greatest Discovery.

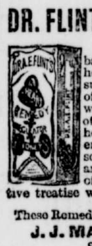
Dr. J De Pratt's Hamburgh Figs.—A crystalized fruit cathartic. A discovery of the greatest interest to the medical profession. A boon to every household. A most delicious laxative or purgative, prepared from fruits and vegetables. So perfectly harmless that they may be administered with entire safety to an infant. So efficacious to adults that a single dose will prove their value, and so elegant a preparation that it needs only to be presented to the public to become a necessity in every household throughout the land. For liver complaints, habitual constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia and piles, they are a specific. To travelers by sea and land they will be found invaluable; they are positively unfailing in their action, and this is the only medicine ever offered to the public that is acceptable to the taste, and so pleasant that children will eat the figs as eagerly as candy. For sale by every druggist throughout the world. Price 25 cents a box. J. J. Mack & Co., Prop's, 9 and 11 Front street, San Francisco, Cal.

HAMBURG FIGS.



Probably as much misery comes from habitual constipation as from any derangement of the functions of the body and it is difficult to cure for the reason that no one likes to take the medicine that is usually prescribed. Hamburg Figs were prepared to obviate this difficulty, and they will be found effective as well as pleasant to the taste of women and children. 25 cents.

DR. FLINT'S HEART REMEDY.



DR. FLINT'S HEART REMEDY banishes from those afflicted with heart disease all fear, either of sudden death, or the development of those terrible brain diseases which result in insanity. It is one of the best remedies known for headache, which is often dependent upon disease of the heart, sometimes upon nervous disease, and sometimes upon derangement of the circulation, $1.50. Descriptive treatise with each bottle, or mailed free.

These Remedies are for sale by all Druggists.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT.

OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA, IN and for the county of Los Angeles.—Sarah E. Latham, plaintiff, vs. John W. Latham, defendant. Action brought in the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the county of Los Angeles, and the complaint filed in said county of Los Angeles in the office of the Clerk of said Superior Court. The People of the State of California send greeting to John W. Latham, defendant: You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above-named plaintiff, in the Superior Court in the State of California, in and for the county of Los Angeles, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service), after the service on you of this summons, if served within this county; or, if served elsewhere, within thirty days, or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The said action is brought to obtain the judgment of the court dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between the parties herein and awarding the custody of the minor child of said issue to the plaintiff. Reference is had to complaint for particulars. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint as above required, the said plaintiff will cause your default to be entered and will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

[SEAL] Given under my hand and the seal of the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the county Los Angeles, this 11th day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven.

FOR SALE,
FOR A SHORT TIME ONLY

8200 ACRES OF THE RENOWNED RANCHO CANADA De Los ALISOS, consisting of flat, rolling and mesa lands. The soil is of an even, rich sandy loam, free from alkali and sand and suitable alike for the culture of fruit, vines and all cereals. It is watered by numerous springs and streams, which, like all California waters, come to the surface in different portions of the ranch, and which offer splendid opportunities for the storage of winter water at slight expense.

No section in Southern California offers a chance for a town site equal to this. It has two guaranteed stations upon the line of the A. T. & S. F. R. R. to San Dieo, which is already graded through the ranch at the center of the town site. The Southern Pacific has also laid out their line to San Diego along the lower end, on the old San Diego road. The town site is elevated above the surrounding valley some 800 feet, and presents a magnificent panorama of the Santa Ana and San Juan valleys, the ocean and the beautiful Santiago mountains, rising but a few miles away along the northern boundary. It is a spot most fitting for a colony, lying just ten miles from Santa Ana, fifteen miles from San Juan-by-the-Sea, eight miles from the Laguna and Arch-beach, and the same distance from Newport and ocean transportation. The mountain ranges in the rear shut off the hot desert winds coming down the Santa Ana canon, and deflects them towards the north and west. The elevation secures immunity from the fogs and frosts of the lower lying and adjacent valleys. It is well timbered with oak, sycamore, cottonwood, willow and elder trees. Water from wells can be obtained anywhere on the ranch at depths of from 8 to 40 feet. At the old adobe ranch house is a vineyard over 80 years old, still bearing, and an orchard of fruit and olive trees, some of them two feet in diameter, grown and still in bearing without irrigation. Some distance from the ranch house lies the famous Sancal Grove and picnic grounds, which, with its magnificent trees, is the finest in Southern California. At one or two places on the ranch are indications of coal oil and lime. The celebrated actress, Madame Mojeska, whose summer house adjoins this property, pronounces its views and climate to be unsurpassed in all Southern California, and predicts for it a future like that of Pasadena.

In the Superior Court

OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA IN and for the county of Los Angeles. C. D. Platt, plaintiff, vs. C. K. Giles, defendant. Action brought in the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Los Angeles, and the complaint filed in said County of Los Angeles in the office of of the Clerk of said Superior Court. The people of the State of California send greeting to C. K. Giles, defendant. You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff, in the Superior Court in the State of California, in and for the County of Los Angeles, and to answer the Complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service), after the service on you of this summons, if served within this county; or if served elsewhere, within thirty days, or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The said action is brought to obtain the judgement of this Court against you, the said defendant, in the sum of $3064 said sum being a balance due plaintiff herein from defendant, for services as compensation for making, conducting and superintending the sale of a certain stock of goods placed in the hands of Platt & Berman by said C. K. Giles, defendant herein, for private sale or at public auction as to them might seem best, as will more fully appear by reference to complaint herein, with interest on said sum of $3064 from March 1st, 1884, and for cost of suit. Reference is had to complaint for particulars. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint as above required, the said plaintiff will cause your default to be entered and will take judgment against you for $3064 with interest as aforesaid and for costs of suit.

DAILY HERALD.

SPECULATIVE TIPS.

Why Stock Jobbing Bank Employes are Closely Watched.

One unfortunate bank clerk received an unwelcome notice last week in the way of a discharge from his position. There was nothing wrong in his accounts and he had acquitted himself with fidelity and ability, but it was his ill fortune to have for a friend a dashing board of trade speculator, and he committed the indiscretion of accepting an invitation to a dinner at the club with his amigo. The fact was reported to the president of the bank, and his removal promptly followed. When the latter was expostulated with for his seeming injustice, he replied that while the clerk had done nothing to warrant the suspicion of wrong, the fact that he was a friend of the broker was a sufficient cause for his discharge. The acquaintance and the knowledge that his friend's prosperity was due to speculative flights was a constant temptation to indulge in like practices, first with his own money, and then, in a moment of weakness or desperation, with that of the bank. No bank employe could afford to subject himself to such influences, and it was only by adopting these extraordinary precautions that the banks preserved themselves against loss. The argument was unanswerable, and the clerk is now looking for another situation. In this connection it may be stated that the private habits, the amusements, and all the trifling details of the lives of the employes of banks are as well known to the bank presidents as to themselves. So long as the expenditures entailed by their habits can be accounted for within the limits of their salaries, all is well, but let them go beyond that limit and a rigid inspection of cash and books follows, and a vacancy at once occurs in the force of that particular institution.

The bad effects which may attach even when all the circumstances point the other way is illustrated in a case which occurred in Chicago some years ago. It was in the Treasurer's office of a big corporation handling millions of money in the course of the year. Two men possessed the combination of the safe, the Treasurer and his assistant. The former, returning after luncheon, made the discovery that a package containing $20,000 was missing. The fact was at once communicated to the Vice President, a well known detective firm called in, and an investigation begun. Of course, suspicion attached to the assistant, he being the only one in the office while his superior was absent and he knew the combination. He was placed under surveillance, but there was no proof adduced to show that he had taken the money. His habits were good, he never speculated, lived within his salary, and beyond the fact that he had the opportunity nothing was proved. On the contrary, the Treasurer was a speculator, constantly indulging in flyers in the wheat and stock market, which he was able to do from his private means, as they were considerable. While the company never questioned his honesty, still it made the fituation an awkward one; so awkward, in fact, that rather than have these points brought out under the fire of a cross-examination, the case was abandoned, the detectives hauled off and no further efforts made to recover the money. The reason is plain. The company could better submit to the loss than have its credit injured and the stockholders made suspicious by the speculative habits of the Treasurer becoming a matter of public notoriety.

There is more or less rot written and served up to the public regarding the habit of high executive officials to trade upon their inside knowledge, and fancy sketches are published graphically describing the array of telegraph boys attending upon the railway meetings and scurrying away to the telegraph offices with messages from the managers to their brokers, instructing the latter to buy and sell as points are developed during the discussions inside. This is nothing but a flight of the imagination upon the part of a penny-a-liner. The writer has been a constant attendant—on the outside—at all of these meetings for the past two years, and during that time has not seen a dozen messages sent out, and does not remember of having seen a messenger boy on the premises. More or less messages are always sent off to the high executive officials, keeping them informed of developments, but the chief clerks in the pool rooms are usually intrusted with these.—[Chicago Times.

It was Not Gormlee.

Yesterday afternoon, a middle-aged man, whose clothes indicated that he was a miner, and who evidently had considerable money with him, commenced a tour of the saloons and wound up in the evening by getting gloriously drunk. Constable Earp found him in a decidedy inebriated condition and took him to the hotel de Bastile. While carrying his prisoner, Mr. Earp was struck by the answers which his face and figure gave to the description of Gormlee. Arriving at the jail, he began a search of the drunken man's clothes. Sixty dollars were in his pockets. Only this and nothing more. The officer then rolled up the right sleeve to look for the bracelet and nude woman in India ink, which Gormlee is known to have on his right arm. Sure enough, there they were. The Constable was elated. He believed that he had caught the fiend at last. Gormlee was locked up, and a telegram sent to Los Angeles for some one who could identify him. Late in the evening Officer Bosqui came, and saw that it wasn't Gormlee.

The man gave his name William Stewart. He was given fifteen days in jail for disturbing the peace.

It is now absolutely certain that Gormlee is either in Mineral Park or Kingman, Arizona, as he not only purchased a ticket for Kingman but took the train. As soon as Detective Earp shall have qualified as Marshal, he will start for Kingman to apprehend Gormlee, if possible.—[Colton Semi-Tropic.

BOSTON HEIGHTS!

GREAT DONATION LOT SALE JULY 11th.

BOSTON HEIGHTS!

THIS DELIGHFUL SUBURB, LYING ON THE EASTERLY SIDE OF SOTO STREET AND extending from Brooklyn avenue northerly to the Mission road, and from Soto street to the city limits, comprises some of the most attractive locations for residence purposes to be found in the city of Los Angeles. The land has all been hitherto held in large tracts, offering no inducements to homeseekers and no opportunities for the small capitalist.

The first note of change is now sounded. The undersigned have made a subdivision of lands at

BOSTON HEIGHTS

Recently owned by Lacy, Johnston and Tononi; mostly planted in bearing vines, in close proximity to the East Los Angeles Park of fifty acres, and commanding a most picturesque and extensive view of the surrounding country. We will offer

299 Lots, Averaging 50x150

In size, at figures which will be found ridiculously low when compared with prices obtained for city lots at the same distance from the center in other directions, or for lots in new townsites 15 miles away. The new

"Los Angeles East-Side Water Company,"

With its capital of half a million dollars, is preparing to supply the whole of this section of the city with the PUREST WATER and in abundant quantity.

In addition to the proposed street car line along Broklyn avenue, a

CABLE ROAD,

A part of the extensive city system, of which Hon. J. F. Crank is President, ar ried along Soto street, passing directly in front of these lots.

These advantages will shortly cause a large increase in the value of the lots in this tract. NOW is the time to secure them. We will send carriages over to give an opportunity for inspection, and we think no unprejudiced person can visit the ground without desiring to buy a lot.

We do not offer to give away any cheap houses to stimulate the sale, but we want to close this property out quickly and have put the prices down very low, making the terms one third cash and balance in six and twelve months, with interest at six per cent. Sales under four hundred dollars, half cash.

As soon as the 299 lots are all subscribed for, and the first payment made, we will donate

$5000 IN U. S. GOLD COIN Among the Lot Buyers, as Follows:

ONE SUM OF $2500 GOLD COIN.
ONE SUM OF $1500 GOLD COIN.
ONE SUM OF $1000 GOLD COIN.

Making a total sum of FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS, payable immediately to three of the respective buyers of lots, whose names shall be drawn under the supervision of the purchasers.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT

OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA, IN and for the county of Los Angeles.

James A. Harrison and Hannah E. Harrison, plaintiffs, vs. Laura Mattocks and John Doe Mattocks, defendants.

Action brought in the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the county of Los Angeles, and the Complaint filed in said county of Los Angeles in the office of the Clerk of said Superior Court.

The People of the State of California send greeting to Laura Mattocks and John Doe Mattocks, defendants. You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiffs, in the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the county of Los Angeles, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons, if served within this county; or, if served elsewhere, within thirty days, or judgment by default will be taken against you, according to the prayer of said Complaint.

The said action is brought to obtain the judgment of this Court against the said defendants in the sum of $15,000 as damages, alleged to have been sustained through the criminal negligence, default and carelessness of the defendants herein; and for costs of suit. Reference is had to Complaint for particulars.

And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said Complaint as above required, the said plaintiffs will cause your default to be entered and will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the Complaint.

This company is now offering for sale 17,000 acres of fine Fruit and Alfalfa Land (less 2,000 sold since April 1st) in subdivisions of from five to forty acre tracts, in the famous Providencia and Scott Ranchos. These Ranches are conceded by all good judges of property to be the finest in the country. Located only ten miles from the Court House, on the main line of the Southern Pacific Railway Company, with ten passenger trains passing the tract daily.

Sidewalks have been laid, and the depot building is now being rapidly erected. An excellent hotel, of which a perspective can be seen at the company's office, is nearly completed.

Fourteen new residences and business blocks are already up, and contracts for ten additional residences have been let. Ninety-three thousand feet of pipe has been distributed over the townsite preparatory to placing it under ground. Ties, rails and rolling stock for the Street Car Line have been ordered, and all the improvements advertised by the company will be pushed to a rapid conclusion.

The development of water in quantities far exceeding the most sanguine expectations of its projectors, has given an assurance that their ability to supply water for townsite and irrigating purposes in abundance is an unquestioned fact.

Reservoir No. 1, with a capacity of one and a half million gallons of water daily, will be completed July 15th, and water of the purest quality, sparkling and clear, piped in front of each lot.

Reservoir No. 2 with a capacity of 2,000,000 gallons of water daily, pouring water in abundance into an irrigating ditch already commenced, and being rapidly pushed to completion, to supply the water to 1700 acres of land which comes below the water drill.

The advantageous location of Burbank, its unsurpassed railway facilities, its beautiful and picturesque surroundings, together with the benefits to be derived from the freight and passenger traffic in connection with the future development of the immense valley of which it is the Crown Gem, recommends it to the people of Southern California as the most desirable and popular suburban town in the State in which to invest. "KEEP COOL."

Some Timely Observations Showing that Man Continues to be a Queer Creature.

We are a composite population in this country, says the New York Star, and even those parts of us that have been settled here longest seem very slow about adapting themselves to the climate of our continent. We have got so far along in the process that we know enough to go in when it rains, or else carry a permanently-borrowed umbrella, and to put on thick clothes in cold weather. But we have not yet learned how to dress in hot weather.

It is easy enough to seek relief by taking off clothes; but the question what clothes to put on requires a higher reach of intellect. The first step in the evolution of summer costume appears to be a reversion to primitive instinct, which causes the removal of that veneer of human civilization ordinarily described as a coat. There is a latent disposition in male humanity, on sweltering days, to get down at least part way to that natural war paint which covers the body. The shirt collar is apt to follow the discarded coat, and the waistcoat not infrequently is shed at the same time. Doubtless if this instinct were slavishly obeyed it would reduce man to a vestment consisting of a few feathers and his complexion. But fans are next called in, as a compromise between civilization and the return to savage nature.

While these crude attempts afford a certain satisfaction in the seclusion of home or the office, it is only in small towns, or in particular grades of life which do not boast of social distinction, that a man may walk the street in his shirt sleeves. And now we have to observe a curious anomaly. The citizen who knows how to keep cool in private when he is not exposed to the sun and does so without compunction, feels obliged the moment he steps out into the broiling sunlight to make himself as hot as possible. As a forced concession to the climate he, of course, wears thinner clothes than he would wear in winter; but they are not thin enough to make him uncomfortable. Nevertheless, he refuses, as a rule, to carry an umbrella, because in some totally different climate in another part of the world, or in the country, where there are trees, water and fresh air, an umbrella is considered effeminate. For some similar want of reason he has thin clothes fitted close like those worn in the winter. Furthermore, owing to a superstition that the stability of society will somehow suffer if he does not exhibit a linen shirt, he insists upon trudging around with a starched collar and cuffs that soon become as limp as a convicted alderman and as useless as a last year's almanac.

A few hours later the same man, having arrived at his rural home, or having run down to the seashore, where the air is cool and a starched collar could be made to survive without effort, will carefully indue himself in a light flannel suit and an imponderous white flannel shirt, decorated according to taste. Teen when at leisure and not needing to keep especially cool, he is convinced that he has fulfilled his duty to the state and to civilization. The fetich worship of the starched collar is carried so far that, in small towns near the sea, a negligent costume of flannel which is held to be perfectly proper on the beach must immediately be exchanged for the starched collar and the spacious linen bosom front when the wearer returns to the town a mile or so inland, where the temperature is higher.

Some persons are made uncomfortable by flannel, and profess to prefer linen thoroughly moistened with perspiration. If they must have damp linen, we might recommend them to wear it underneath, and the cool, flexible flannel outside. They would at any rate look better then. Thin alpaca, loose collars, and umbrellas may be prescribed for the devotees of starch. But the great majority will be chiefly benefited by adopting roomy garments of flannel, and displacing the close waistcoat with a shirt containing small pockets.

Suitable clothes for outdoor life, for yachting, wheeling and tennis have already come into vogue. A few years ago these costumes made the wearers seem conspicuous, and exposed them to ridicule when they ventured to display them on the streets; but it is gradually getting to be recognized that a man may attire himself sensibly and comfortably in summer without being set down as an eccentric. If it be proper to evade the heat when one is idling in a comparatively cool place, how much greater the propriety of dressing in a convenient, informal style while at work in the overheated city.

Why not keep cool?

PROSPECTUS

— OF THE —

COMPTON ARTESIAN WATER COMPANY.

There has been secured, just over the "divide," due west from Compton, 300 acres of ARTESIAN WATER LAND, on which are now developed NINE ABUNDANTLY FLOWING WELLS of the Finest Artesian Water, two of which are quite strongly impregnated with White Sulphur.

ONE HUNDRED ACRES

Of this tract, as has been demonstrated by actual test on various portions of it, Artesian Wells can be had on every square rod, at a depth of from 90 to 500 feet, the latter depth going down through three different water-bearing stratas, which are about 200 feet in depth.

With the exception of 30 acres of the Pomeroy-Burlingame tract, adjacent on the north, this is the ONLY ARTESIAN BELT west of the mesa between Compton and the immense body of land between it and the San Pedro and Santa Monica Bays. This water can be taken out at a level from 60 to 80 feet above tide-water. It can be had in unlimited quantities and can be easily piped over 40,000 to 50,000 acres of land on the San Pedro, the McDonald, the Sausel Redondo and the Freeman Ranchos. While there is surface water to be had at a depth of from 50 to 150 feet, generally it is not of the best quality and has to be pumped by power for domestic or irrigating purposes. The Artesian water on the the 300 acres alluded to is found on the west bank of a ravine, half a mile east of the Wilmington Telephone road, which ravine trends to the southwest. On the west side of the ravine no Artesian water can be developed.

It is proposed to put this water and the land adjacent, which controls the right of way to the lowland, into which will not only utilize the immense amount which is now daily flowing to waste, but to sink numerous other wells as the demand increases, as it is certain to do, for the land in that region is being rapidly bought up, subdivided and disposed of in 20 to 40-acre tracts. Each of these occupiers must have this water, because it can be furnished cheaper than any other, and also because it is absolutely pure and free from any sediment, to say nothing medicinal qualities.

The capital stock will be divided into 20,000 shares of the par value of $5 each, 50 per cent. of which will be required in cash, and the balance in six months and one year, at 8 per cent. Subscriptions to the stock will be received at my new office, 316 N. Main Street, in the Real Estate Exchange.

Stockholders may pay the amount of their subscriptions into the First National Bank, where it will remain until they meet, organize and elect officers, who are to expend the money for the purposes of development.

Surveys and levels are now being made, and maps and plans of the territory to be watered and covered will be prepared at the earliest possible moment, where they may be inspected and all other information obtained as above.

The persons who control a permanent supply of water in Southern California have a better thing than a valuable gold mine.

The Water in this Scheme will be Stocked, but the Stock will not be Watered.

Lumbermen, Attention! Please.

I have five tracts of Redwood Lands, in the Northern part of the State, for sale. Title perfect, and fine properties, ranging in size from 2000 to 8000 acres, including one Lumber Mill outfit; ranging in price from $30,000 to $175,000 each. Call and see me.

PORT BALLONA.

The Future Harbor of Southern California

THIS IS THE OCEAN TERMINUS OF THE CALIFORNIA CENTRAL RAILROAD, OF THE Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe system, who are under contract to lay five miles of side track. The shortest railroad line between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans.

PORT BALLONA is situated on Santa Monica Bay, only thirty minutes' ride by rail from the City of Los Angeles, with trains to begin running every 3 hours in the day early in July. Property can be purchased now at a much lower figure than when railroad and steamships are brought together. PORT BALLONA has two main avenues, one 100 feet and one 80 feet wide, with all other streets 60 feet. Residence lots are 40x150, and business lots 25x100 and 25x150 feet. The residence property is at an elevation of from 50 to 75 feet above tide water thus affording a most magnificent view, extending from Point Duma to the San Jacinto Mountains, and from the San Bernardino Mountains to Santa Catalina Island, in the blue Pacific, and with a Beach unsurpassed on the Coast.

The Beautiful Lake of Ballona

Is one of the greatest features of the place, affording at all times a perfectly safe and pleasant place for Sailing and Boating of all kinds, and teeming with Fish and Water Fowl. There is also a never-failing Spring of Pure Sulphur Water, and both sulphur and salt water bath-houses are already in course of construction.

☞ Water will be delivered in iron pipes in front of each lot under good pressure.

☞ Lots are now on sale, and maps and all other information can be obtained from

Vernon Park! Vernon Park!

This Beautiful Property, lying ONE MILE SOUTH OF LOS ANGELES, will be placed on the market

THURSDAY, JULY 14TH

It has been subdivided into One-Quarter Acre Lots, which will be sold on VERY EASY TERMS.

These lots are covered with old, bearing Fruit Trees and Vines, the whole tract being surrounded with Eucalyptus Trees, nearly 100 feet high.

THE LOCATION IS SUPERB.

Close to the Vernon School House. The new Street Car line will pass these lots. The Railroad to Ballona Harbor is within one-quarter of a mile, where a depot will be located. The Railroad to Santa Ana and San Pedro is within one-half mile, giving from eight to ten trains a day to Los Angeles.

Only thirty feet to Cold, Clear Water. The City Zanja runs through the tract, which supplies water for irrigation.

The fruit on this tract is as fine as any in the County. Its close proximity to the City makes it the most desirable place for Suburban Homes yet placed on the market.

Price of lots, $400 and $500. Terms of payment, $50 cash, balance in monthly payments if desired. WITHOUT INTEREST.

Carriages leave every day at 9 a. m. and 2 p. m., from

Mrs. De Society—What a lovely baby that is we just passed. Mrs. De Fashion—Yes; it is mine. Mrs. De Society—Indeed. Mrs. De Fashion—Oh, I'm sure of it. I recognized the nurse.—[Omaha World.

The Defeat of the Ghilzais: First Pittsburg Man—I see the Ghilzais have suffered two more defeats. Second Pittsburg Man—Have they? What club whipped them.—[Pittsburg Chronicle.

Popular Among the People: He (after church)—"What a very eloquent man the Rev. Dr. Whitechoker is Miss Breezy. I was delighted with him." She (of Chicago)—"Yes, there are no flies on Dr. Whitechoker."

Young Artist (with picture all ready for the academn)—"There's a picture, Charley, they won't hang up very high!" Charley—"No, indeed. I don't suppose that picture would hang up for more than $2.50."—Traveler's Magazine.

One view of it—Robinson meets a friend who lost his wife the day before—"Allow me to offer my sympathies. Let me see—you were married—" "Thirty years." "Ah, yes, and it's hard to lose a wife just as one is growing a little used to her."—[Judge.

No show for anybody—"Did you enjoy the regatta yesterday?" "Was no regatta; yachts didn't sail." "Why not?" "No wind." "Didn't they have the rowing races, then?" "No; shells couldn't start." "Why not?" "Too much wind."—[Brooklyn Eagle.

Daughter—"There is only one thing more astonishing than the readiness with which Ned gave up tobacco when we became engaged." Mother—"What is the astonishing thing?" Daughter—"The rapidity with which he took it up again as soon as we were married."

He—Your friend, Miss Shawsgarden, of St. Louis, seems to be a very refined young lady, Miss Breezy. Miss Breezy (of Chicago)—Yes, Clara is unquestionably genteel in most respects, and in personal appearance almost distinguée, but it would pain you to see her eat asparagus.—[Life.

He Gave Up Calling: Brown—"I say, Robinson, are you still sweet on Miss Tittleback?" Robinson—"I'm afraid she didn't appreciate my visit." "Why do you think so?" "Well, the last time I called she had an alarm clock in the parlor, and had it set for 10 o'clock. I have given up calling there.—[New York Sun.

"Dear me, I ate cucumbers for dinner and I can taste them yet," exclaimed a man noted for his penuriousness to his clerk the other afternoon. "Well, there is one comfort," answered the clerk, "you are certainly getting your money's worth." "That's so," replied the cucumber eater, "I didn't think of that."—[Elmira Gazette.

In the French Senate—"Gentlemen, I think that in order to prove my point it will simply be necessary for me to name the Ministers who have held office in the last ten years." A voice—"Then we are in for a night session.—[French Fun.

Minister (to little boy)—"What have you got there, little boy? Your Sunday School paper?" Little boy—"No, thir; 'count of the base ball game yesterday." Minister—"Don't you know that's no paper for you to read on Sunday?" Little boy—"Yeth, thir." Minister—"Well, give me the paper."—[Exchange.

Judge (who has invited an alderman to sit beside him on the bench)—"Mr. Alderman, do you think the prisoner guilty? Just whisper your opinion to me." Alderman—"Judge, he is no more guilty than I am." Judge (hesitating a few minutes, then aloud)—"I sentence the prisoner to five years' imprisonment."—[Epoch.

Home, Sweet Home: She (thoughtfully)—George, dear, are there any times in your life when the pathos and truth of that most beautiful of all songs, "Home, Sweet Home, There Is No Place Like Home," appears to you with startling vividness, and fills your soul with longing? He (a base ball player)—Yes, indeed; particularly when I'm on third base, with two men out.

The wrong kickers—Opera goer (to manager of National Opera Company)—"Well, I see you've got rid of the kickers in your company. What are the prospects for—" Manager—"What's that? Rid of the kickers? Heavens, I wish I had!" "Why, I saw a report that the ballet would be dispensed with." "The ballet? Oh! I thought you meant the prima donna."—[Philadelphia Call.

"How is it that you charge me fifty cents for this little pinch of bicarbonate of soda, when you gave me three times as much for ten cents yesterday." Druggist—"We are filling a prescription to-day. Suppose we are going to translate Latin for nothing? My dear sir, you don't seem to appreciate what it costs to obtain a classical education. Hold on! I've given you oxalic acid. That boy's always shifting the bottles around."—[Boston Transcript.

TAKE SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

For all Diseases of the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach and Spleen.

This purely vegetable preparation, now so celebrated as a Family Medicine, originated in the South in 1828. It acts gently on the Bowels and Kidneys and corrects the action of the Liver, and is, therefore, the best preparatory medicine, whatever the sickness may prove to be. In all common diseases it will, unassisted by any other medicine, effect a speedy cure.

The Regulator is safe to administer in any condition of the system, and under no circumstances can it do harm. It will invigorate like a glass of wine, but is no intoxicating beverage to lead to intemperance; will promote digestion, dissipate headache, and generally tone up the system. The dose is small, not unpleasant, and its virtues undoubted.

No loss of time, no interruption or stoppage of business while taking the Regulator.

Children complaining of Colic, Headache, or Sick Stomach, a teaspoonful or more will give relief.

If taken occasionally by patients exposed to MALARIA, will expel the poison and protect them from attack.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system. A Pretty Woman's Secret.

Fear of discovery, when she resorts to false hair and dyes, is a source of constant anxiety to her. The very persons from whom she most desires to hide the waning of her charms are the ones most likely to make the discovery. But there is no reason why she should not regain and retain all the beauty of hair that was her pride in youth. Let her use AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, and, not only will her hair cease to fall out, but a new growth will appear where the scalp has been denuded; and locks that are turning gray, or have actually grown white, will return to their pristine freshness and brilliance of color. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR cures

Hereditary Baldness.

GEORGE MAYER, Flatonia, Texas, was bald at 23 years of age, as his ancestors had been for several generations. One bottle of HAIR VIGOR started a growth of soft, downy hair all over his scalp, which soon became thick, long, and vigorous.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

is not a dye, but, by healthful stimulation of the roots and color glands, speedily restores to its original color hair that is Turning Gray.

MRS. CATHERINE DEAMER, Point of Rocks, Md., had her hair suddenly blanched by fright, during the late civil war. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR restored it to its natural color, and made it softer, glossier, and more abundant than it had been before.

Scalp Diseases

Which cause dryness, brittleness, and falling of the hair, dandruff, itching, and annoying sores, are all quickly cured by AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. It cured HERBERT BOYD, Minneapolis, Minn., of intolerable Itching of the Scalp; J. N. CARTER, JR., Occoquan, Va., of Scald Head; MRS. D. V. S. LOVELACE, Lovelaceville, Ky., of Tetter Sores; MISS BESSIE H. BEDLOE, Burlington, Vt., of Scalp Disease and Dandruff. Torpidity of the roots of the hair, which, if neglected, may result in incurable baldness, is readily cured by AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. As

A Toilet Luxury

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR has no equal. It is colorless, cleanly, delightfully perfumed, and has the effect of making the hair soft, pliant, and glossy.

DAILY HERALD.

EDUCATED HORSES.

Prof. Bartholomew's Ideas on the Subject.

A representative of the HERALD called on Prof. Bartholomew yesterday with a view of ascertaining how it was that he had succeeded in bringing forth so much intelligence as had been exhibited in the horses which have been before the public since 1880. The Professor said that during his many years' experience with horses he had found that they were very much like human beings, and that in teaching them he had to deal with them as the teacher does with a child. It required a vast amount of patience, but if they were treated kindly and encouraged it was not so hard as might be imagined to make a horse understand what was said to him. In performing before an audience the horse depends much more in the surroundings than a human being, for the reason that they cannot use their inellect with such quickness. Thus if on the opening night something which they are accustomed to use is missing it bothers them to a considerable degree and sometimes interferes with the celerity of their movements.

In training the horses the Professor had taken advantage of traits he had observed in each particular animal, and as no two exhibited the same traits a variety of features was given to a performance which otherwise would cost considerable time and trouble. In performing it made no difference to the animals if one of them were absent. The others went on and acted their parts just as if nothing was the matter.

It seems almost incredible that Nellie's feat in rolling the barrel could be performed with such a degree of intelligence as she exhibits. It seems that she has learned that a barrel is likely to roll digaonally instead of straight, and to correct this she exercises her reasoning power and while pushing one end of the barrel forward with one foot will pull the other end back with the other foot. She has also learned that in rolling the barrel up an inclined board she must keep her feet over the board or else if the barrel slips off she will injure her limbs. In this and other particulars she shows so much intelligence that even her master considers her a phenomenon.

In regard to the viciousness of animrls the Professor thinks that there is not an animal which cannot be broken of it. He had taken in hand during the course of his long experience, a number of fractious animals and had cured them with very little trouble. The Professor did not blame the horses which stand around the streets for exhibiting vicious traits. As a general rule they are treated badly and it is only natural that they should retaliate. The intelligent animals exhibited by him were not vicious for the reason that they had no cause. They were not fretted nor worked too hard, and in consequence were always willing to take their parts in the performance. The professor called attention to the limbs of the animals, which did not show a sign of blemish, nor were their feet shod. So healthy were they all that he said he only hoped he would live long enough to see how long they would keep their health. It was just such animals that would live into the forties. After being introduced to each of the animals the reporter left with the feeling that he knew very little about horses.

AFTERMATH.

Echoes from the Report of the Grand Jury.

County Tax Collector Crawford stated yesterday in reference to the reflection cast upon him by the report of the Grand Jury, wherein it said: "The present incumbent's office has also been examined and a slight error has been discovered, which was caused, perhaps, by his not being familiar with the points in law directing the management of his office," that the report had been made in ignorance of the law on the part of those who had examined his report and accounts. The error referred to was the collection of $24 in July, whereas the law says that only between the last Monday in November and the last Monday in December he can receive money." Mr. Crawford said that section 3785 of the revenue laws of the State provides that he shall collect $3 on each tax deed issued, and he is obliged to issue these deeds whenever asked. Acting under the District Attorney's advice he had collected for eight deeds so issued, and according to section 3785 of the law referred to he can not see how such collection could be called an error by any one familiar with the law relating to the duties of the office.

James S. Mackenzie, who was employed by the Grand Jury as an expert, stated yesterday in reply to certain reflections cast upon his character by County Auditor Montaño, that since his actions had been endorsed by nineteen of the prominent citizens of the city and county composing the Grand Jury, the words of Mr. Montaño fell without weight and were powerless to injure him. Having been appointed an expert he was obliged to do his duty, however unpleasant, and the fact that his reports were endorsed by the Grand Jury was sufficient to show that his remarks to them were only what was deserved. He did not desire to say that anything further in relation to the matter since the reflections could have no possible weight in the minds of those who have examined into the matter.

DECKER'S CASE.

He is Fined $25 for Violation of Duty.

As published yesterday the report of the Grand Jury expert was of such a nature as to warrant that body in finding an indictment against Z. Decker, the Public Administrator, for violation of duty. Decker was arrested and yesterday appeared before Judge O'Melveny. The officer pleaded guilty to the charge and said that he was ignorant of the law which provided that he should turn in once a month the money received by him. The Court said that he thought Decker had no intention of defrauding the county and was only guilty of neglect of duty. Accordingly Decker was fined $25 and allowed to depart. It is probable that hereafter Decker will deposit with the County Treasurer on the last Monday of each month the money that has come into his hands from the estates of of deceased persons.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

Matters Pertaining to the Educational Department.

The City Council has passed an ordinance calling an election on the 27th of August for the issuance of $150,000 in bonds for the purpose of erecting new school buildings and repairing and adding on to the old ones. This ordinance will have to be published for two weeks and then the call for the election will have to be published for the same length of time, after which the voting will take place. The schools should open on the first day of September, but this is not likely to be the case There are in the city a large number of children who cannot leave, and it is conceded that too long a vacation causes the childish mind to forget much that it has learned during the former term. Vacations in Los Angeles, therefore, should not be for a longer period than in other cities. Two months' vacation is considered by all the Eastern educationalists as sufficient and it is thought by a great many that the time should not be extended beyond that here. To do so places Los Angeles on the same basis as any country town, whereas it is a city and the children have been brought up in city ways. The schools, therefore, should open on the first Monday of September, but it is claimed that since the money for new buildings will not be available early enough to build them before that time, there will be no need to open before the middle of September or the first of October. If there were sufficient buildings it is probable that an excuse to the effect that the children would not be present in sufficient force to warrant the opening so early. On the other side it is claimed that if it is announced beforehand that the schools will open on the first Monday in September there will be a great effort made by the parents to have all their children in the city in time.

In relation to the school bonds it is hoped by those who are interested in the department, that there will be a large vote in favor of their issuance. There is not near enough accommodation for the children of the city, and some of the old buildings are a disgrace to the city. In order to accommodate the children until the buildings can be enlarged, and new ones erected, it is probable that nearly all of the sessions will he double, and it is proposed that one set of teachers instruct from 8 a. m. until 12 m., and another from 1 until 5 p. m. In the meantime all possible haste will be used in preparing proper accommodations for the pupils.

The Palmyra Opening.

The Palmyra Hotel at Orange was opened last evening by a grand reception and ball. This new hotel with its bright and tasteful furnishings is owned by C. Z. Culver and managed by J. J. Martin, both of whom endeavored to make their guests feel at home and enjoy themselves during the few hours which were allotted them. In honor of the occasion the beautiful grounds had been illuminated with fancifully colored Chinese and Japanese lanterns and when the guests arrived they were charmed with the brilliant appearance of the hotel and surroundings. Inside flowers had been placed in various situations with artistic skill and variegated foliage, together with the delicate shades of the blooms added greatly to the appearance of the interior. The dining-room was also tastefully decorated with flowers, and when the many who were assembled were ushered within its portals, they found that nothing was lacking which might have added to their comfort. The choicest viands and the most delicate confections were furnished with an abundance which spoke volumes for the generosity of the proprietor and gave to the hotel a name which will be hard to efface from the memory of those who were fortunate enough to be present. Among the many present were Wm. Galen, L. J. Vignes, T. E. Rowan, W. T. McIntosh, R. E. McGregor, Chas. E. Haines, Wm. Vincent, L. McCormick, C. H. Lowenfeld, P. H. Dorney, L. Lewin, Mr. and Mrs. H. Cogswell, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. James Shirley.

How Values Change.

Adolph Petsch, of North Cucamonga, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Petsch has one of the finest homes in San Bernardino county. His land was a rabbit pasture eight years ago and was purchased at $12.50 per acre. It is now worth more than a thousand dollars per acre as the result of intelligent industry. It is not for sale.

Postmaster Preuss.

E. A. Preuss the newly appointed postmaster for Los Angeles, yesterday received his commission and will enter upon the discharge of his duties to-morrow. Mr. Preuss brings to the discharge of his arduous duties great executive ability and indomitable energy and industry.

JOURNALISM IN SIVAS,

A Newspaper that is Supported by Compulsory Subscription.

Although Sivas is a city of some 40,000 inhabitants, the capital of the province and commercial center of central Asia Minor, it has but one newspaper, and is one only in name. It is a badly printed sheet of about twelve by fifteen inches. It is the official paper in every sense, being not only the medium for communicating official notices, but also owned, edited and published by the local government. It has no telegraphic news, no local news except of an official character; no reporters and no advertisements; so it can hardly be called a newspaper. Its publishers have a novel way of getting subscribers. Every government official, from the highest to the lowest, is a subscriber—not because he wants to be, but because he is compelled to. There is no giving of chromos or "inducements for clubs." The publishers have a far more effective way of swelling their subscription list than by any such waste of money. It is a very simple way, too. It consists in simply deducting from all officials salaries, including those of subordinates, down to the lowest clerks, the amount of the annual subscription. He may take the paper or leave it; but he has to pay for it, and as there is a vast number of officials, lesser or greater, the editor has a most enviable position. He need never fear that terror of impecunious American editors, the irate subscriber who stalks into the sanctum and issues the terrifying mandate, "Stop my paper," because his name was mentioned or not mentioned, as the case may be; nor has he any of the other annoyances of dependence on "our esteemed subscribers," which makes life a burden to editors in less favored lands. His is, indeed, a happy lot, and one to make many a harassed western "we" grow green with envy.—Boston Herald.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

A Review of the Day's Transactions.

NEW YORK, July 28.—There was a radical change in the temper of stock speculation to-day, and most of yesterday's losses were regained. Prices were on a higher plane throughout, and while first prices were generally the lowest recorded, the best figures were reached in the last half an hour. Yesterday's feverishness and irregularity continued to prevail during the forenoon, but a decided strong tone marked the dealing for the remainder of the day. More positive strength was shown in the last half hour and the close was strong at the last figures reached. All the list is higher to-night. Manhattan gained 2¼; Jersey Central, 2¼; Texas Pacific and Missouri Pacific each, 1¼; Lackawanna, 1½; Canada Southern, Reading, Richmond, West Point and Union Pacific, 1.

Government bonds are dull and steady.

Excitement in Petroleum.

The petroleum market, just before the close to-day, was more excited than for over a year, and in the space of a few minutes an advance of 3 cents and a reaction of 1 cent a barrel were reached. The opening was weak at 54¾, below last night's close, but after the first sales a strong tone was developed and the price advanced to 55 before noon, and prices remained steady from that time until the last half hour, when the price suddenly advanced to 57⅞, but a reaction quickly followed and the close was steady at 56¾. Sales, 2,496,000 barrels.

DAILY HERALD.

ELAM'S TEMPER.

The Prosecution Thinks He Was Mild.

THE TESTIMONY CLOSED.

And the Case to Be Argued and Finally Submitted To-day.

The Bodkin trial was resumed yesterday morning, and Bodkin was called to the stand for cross-examination. He answered the questions propounded to him without any hesitancy, and although on the stand for several hours the prosecution did not succeed in impeaching his testimony to the slightest extent.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Court met again at 2 o'clock, and Bodkin, the defendant. was recalled and testified, as follows, under cross-examination: After the compromise between Elam and myself he never quit trespassing on my premises. The day of the shooting, when I went out and first observed Elam there was muscular action in his face, changing it from the normal, pleasant state, to an angry, excited appearance. Bodkin then related the circumstances of the shooting substantially as testified to in the direct examination. The prosecution offered a letter written to Mr. Morton in which defendant said "I killed that man in defending my rights in our dooryard when he came to assault me," and asked the witness if he had written it. He replied that he had and Mr. White stated that he was willing to stipulate that the witness had written the paragraph referred to.

George W. Knox was called by the defense and in response to a question by Mr. White witness admitted that has the misfortune to be a member of the legislature. The Court cautioned counsel that he is not allowed to impeach his own witness. Continuing, the witness said that at one time he was Assistant District Attorney. That Bodkin called upon him and wanted to have a neighber placed under bonds to keep the peace. After going over the facts of the case, I told him that inasmuch as he had no witnesses who ever saw Mr. Elam make any threats it would be insufficient for any court to put the man under bonds. He told me that Elam never abused him except when they were alone. He asked me to give him authority to arm himself. He said that the law was at fault. He asked me what I should do if I were in a like position. I told him that I would arm myself and protect myself even to the extent of killing the one who offered violence. I then stated, fearing that he might misconstrue my remarks, that killing was only justifiable as a last resort.

Mr. Hannon was next called. Have known Bodkin for a number of years. Never heard his reputation for peace and quietness discussed. Have had intercourse with all my neighbors and am familiar with their sentiments.

Johnny Bodkin, the ten year old boy of the defendant was next called. Remember the day Elam was killed. I was taking down a cow. I did not talk to Mr. Elam, or call him any names. Elam said, "you —— —— —— —— I will go over to the house and thrash you and your father too." Mr. Elam frequently abused me. I used to go to school—the Olive school. I used to go along the bank of the ditch. It was not the best way but if I went any other way I was afraid of meeting Elam and that he would hurt me. The little witness admitted that when before the Coroner his mother had told him not to testify to anything and that he obeyed her.

By stipulation a letter was read from City Attorney Daly, stating that he had to go to San Francisco on business and could not be present. He, however, stated that Bodkin had consulted with him relative to binding Elam to keep the peace.

An affidavit from W. D. Ward, editor of the Orange Tribune, stating that Elam was a regular subscriber was read. In this communication the defense offered in evidence a "personal" from the paper, dated October 22d, 1886, stating that "J. J. Bodkin will remove his family to Pomona in the near future.". Mr. White stated that he offered the "persona " for the purpose of showing that Elam was cognizant of the fact that Bodkin was about to move away.

The defense closed at this point and the prosecution opened in rebuttal.

Mrs. Bodkin, wife of the defendant, was recalled. The morning after the shooting, when some persons were out examining ths ground where Elam fell, I did not point out the place where he dropped.

Miss Viola Elam called: During July, 1886, did see a portion of Mr. Bodkin's fence down. Saw a horse knock a post down. Don't know just when it happened. It was Mr. Elam's horse that did it, and I went down and told my brother of it, and he came up and tied the animal. My sister and myself were not afraid of my brother. He was not a man of violent temper. He was very kind to us. After he died his boots were put away in a box. Witness was here shown a pair, which she recognized as belonging to deceased. Remember seeing the boots the day he was shot. There were no other boots around the premises belonging to Elam. These boots (pointing) were the ones Elam wore a long time before and up to the time he was killed. The Bodkin children were over to our house the Sunday before the killing. Mrs. Bodkin called at our house. I was there but my sister was at Santa Ana.

George W. Ffensen was next called. Live near Orange. Never seen Elam and Bodkin together. Never thought that Elam had a violent temper. I worked with him, and he hardly ever swore. Witness admitted in response to a question by Mr. White that Elam was always sweet tempered in his presence.

John W. Miller was next called. Saw Elam's boots at the house shortly after the shooting. Recognize these as his. Never heard Elam use profane language.

John W. Miller was next called. Saw Mr. Elam go over to Mr. Bodkin's one day when he was cultivating. Elam was on horseback, but did not try to ride over Bodkin. I was about 100 yards away. Knew Elam well. He had not a violent nor hot temper, nor was he profane. I saw him frequently. Witness admitted that he never watched any of his neigbors. On the day Elam rode over where Bodkin was at work, witness was ploughing in his vineyard, but he suspended operations to watch them. There was nothing strange about the proceeding, but witness looked on just the same.

A. McDonald also saw Elam ride over to Bodkin's place. Did not see Elam try to ride over Bodkin. They went once to the latter's house. I saw Mr. Bodkin coming back shortly afterwards. Have known Elam for over three years. He was not a man of violent temper. Never heard him swear or use profane language. I was about 200 yards from Elam and Bodkin when the former rode up. Do not remember talking with Bodkin on that day. Either that day or the next Bodkin asked me if I did not see Elam ride over. I said I did not. I did not want to be mixed up in the trouble. Notwithstanding my scruples I did tell some one. In reply to the Court the witness said that when he saw them speaking so soon after the settlement he thought there might be trouble.

E. E. Johnson was next called. Knew Elam. Met him in 1884. Knew him perfectly well. Lived about eighty rods from him. Never saw him in a passion. Never heard him use a profane word.

G. H. Foster, who has charge of the ditches near Orange, was next called. Knew Elam. He did not have a violent temper and never heard him swear. Have heard the discharge of guns at night by persons rabbit-hunting. Have known shots to be fired into houses. Elam weighed about 140 pounds, and was about 5 feet 10 inches in height.

The prosecution offered Elam's photograph in evidence.

Trumbull Kent also knew Elam well, and never knew that he had a violent temper, nor never heard him use profane language. George F. Jessen also knew Elam well and never knew him to have a bad temper. Never heard him swear. Know how Mr. Bodkin's dog got killed. On a Sunday evening when it was dark I was coming down from the house. I heard a shot and the dog yelped. I also heard a wagon going down the road. That is all I know about it. There was rabbit shooting going on all season. Don't know that I heard shooting at night.

E. J. Henderson was called. Knew Elam. He weighs about 160 pounds. He did not have a violent temper and never heard him swear during our acquaintance.

A long string of other witnesses were also examined and none of them ever saw Elam excited or ever heard him use vulgar language.

Miss Olive Elam, sister of the deceased, was next called. Was present the day my brother whipped the dog Elam had given him. When Mrs. Bodkin came over did not tell her not to go near my brother. Elam did not have a bad temper; never heard him swear or use profane language. He was very kind to us, and it is untrue when it is said that we feared him. The Sunday before Elam was killed Mrs. Bodkin and the children called at our house. I was all alone.

The Court then took a recess until 9 o'clock this morning, when the argument will be commenced. The Court cautioned the jury not to talk about the case to anyone nor to read the reports of the newspapers, notwithstanding the fact that at the opening of the case in the morning the defense stated that the reports in the papers were more exact than the notes of the stenographer.

Burglary at Long Beach.

It appears that the bold burglar has even invaded the sacred precincts of Long Beach, and from reports it is evident that no portion of the county is exempt from despoliation. The inhabitants of that burg were much excited yesterday morning when it was discovered that the store of W. W. Lowe had been entered and the safe broken into and relieved of its contents. An examination of the premises showed that the burglars were experts at their business. They had with an excellence of precision bored one small hole, about half an inch, in front of the lock, and, after inserting powder, blown off the door. Inside the safe was a bag containing about $120 in silver and a drawer containing about $3000 worth of notes. They took the silver and notes and left behind a few worthless drills, having bored the hole with a brace belonging to the store. Fortunately Mr. Lowe had deposited or hidden his gold in some other place, so he did not feel so badly as if he had put it in his safe for safe-keeping. There is no trace of the burglars, who were probably miles away before the burglary was discovered.

Killed by a Plow.

An inquest was held yesterday on the body of Adolphus G. Buesser, who died at Ivanhoe from injuries received by the falling of a plow upon him. The father of the boy, a farmer, stated at the inquest that his son was riding on a wagon and asked if he could get off and walk, as he was tired of riding. The wagon was stopped and the boy got off and walked behind for about seventy-five yards, and then he tried to climb on the back end of the wagon on which there was a bale of hay, and on the top of the hay was a plow. Both hay and plow fell off the wagon and the plow hit the boy in the stomach. The father wrapped the boy in a blanket and took him home. The boy lived until yesterday morning when he died. The Coroner's verdict was accidental death. Deceased was 10 years old and a native of Ohio.

The San Joaquin Ranch.

The answer of the trustees of the Irvine estate to the complaint filed by Mr. A. E. Davis recites that the trustees consider the ranch not sold either to Davis or Smith. This will have a tendency to again put the ranch upon the market. The answer or cross-complaint of Mr. Smith and associates will shortly be filed and it is claimed that this document will alter the matter considerably.

CITY SEWERAGE.

Prompt Action to Save Future Taxation.

FURTHER DELAY DANGEROUS.

Enlightened Movements on the Question in Various Parts of the Country.

The town of San Luis Obispo appears to be moving in the matter of city sewerage. A meeting of the Board of Trade of that town was held on Tuesday last, at which resolutions were passed recommending that the city should issue bonds for a sufficient amount to construct a system of sewers, and a committee of ten prominent citizens was appointed to urge hasty action upon the Board of City Trustees.

This is a move in the right direction and shows that the people of San Luis Obispo are awake to their true interests of caring for the public health. Self-preservation is recognized as the first law of nature, and appears to be realized in all places around Los Angeles.

San Diego has commenced to expend $400,000 in that little beautiful city for the construction of a sewerage system for 11,500 people.

Pasadena is to expend $192,000 for a sewerage system for 7000 people.

Azusa commenced a sewerage system before a house was erected.

San Bernardino and Santa Ana are moving in an energetic manner in the matter of sewering those towns. In every direction there appears to be an active movement going on for removing filth and preserving the health of the city.

NO TIME TO BE LOST

The right of way has been secured for a conduit from the south boundary of the city to the Sausal Redondo rancho for an outfall sewer, and the proprietors of that rancho have offered, as previously published in the HERALD, to grant a right of way for eight miles across their lands to the sea on conditions highly advantageous to the city. They have 6000 acres of fine land and can likely control 4000 acres more, which they propose to put into a pool with the city, valuing their land at $100 per acre on condition that the city authorities give them the right to use the sewage on the land, over which they will lay vitrified, or other pipes equally as good, for the irrigation and fertilization of the soil. This laying of pipe would cost the proprietors about $75,000.

After the sewage is placed on the land in a proper manner the land will be sold for cultivation, and half of the amount realized above the sum of $100 per acre will be paid into the treasury of the city. When sewage is not needed on the land it is to have unobstructed conveyance to the sea through the conduit over the same, thus ridding the city of all its poisonous gases from the sewers. The descent to the sea from the city boundary is about 200 feet on a most excellent grade, free from ravines or rocks.

This most liberal proposition will not long be left open. The outlet is the best that can be found, and the terms are such that the city can make half a million dollars by the advance in the value of the land. Since the proposition was originally made in the columns of the HERALD the price of the land has advanced materially, and is now salable at a higher price than that named in the proposition to the city.

If the city wants a sewerage system that will cost nothing, the time for action has arrived. The proposition must be accepted or rejected in a short time. A special message from Mayor Workman will probably be issued calling attention to the necessity of extending the sewerage system to the sea, and that will bring the matter directly before the City Council and this proposition or some other valuable plan will be adopted. Immediate action is necessary.

CAPITAL CHANGING BASE.

Another consideration is now forced upon the merchants and house owners of the city that should have its proper effect. Owing to the lack of proper sewerage to make the city desirable as a place of resort, capitalists are removing their money from the city and investing it in the shape of spacious and beautiful hotels in the suburbs, thus depriving the city of a large amount of taxable property and taking the trade of travelers and tourists to surrounding towns.

This matter is a serious consideration for it amounts to hundreds of thousands of dollars annually. The location of twenty-one new hotels was given in the HERALD a few days ago as being built outside of the city, and rivals to the city hotels and detractors of trade from Los Angeles. Since that time two others have been planned outside the city; one of 200 rooms in Cahuenga and another of 50 rooms in South Pasadena.

To retain the trade here the city must be made clean, beautiful and attractive. This cannot be accomplished except by sewers and pavements. The streets and the air must be pure. Los Angeles should be what it can be, the finest city in the world, and one of the largest. To insure these things it is time to begin to work and work earnestly. The money market is easy, and it is a good time to sell city bonds. The rise in value of 6000 acres of land will pay for the bonds long before they would become due while the health of the city would be greatly benefited.

"What we learn with pleasure we never forget."—Alfred Mercier. The following is a case in point. "I paid out hundreds of dollars without receiving any benefit," says Mas. Emily Rhodes, of McBrides, Mich. "I had female complasnts, especially 'dragging-down,' for over six years. Dr. R. V. Pierce's 'Favorite Prescription' did me more good than any medicine I ever took. I advise every sick lady to take it." And so do we. It never disappoints its patrons. Druggists sell it.

For weak lungs, spitting of blood, shortness of breath, consumption, night-sweats and all lingering coughs, Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is a sovereign remedy. Superior to cod liver oil. By Druggists.

Stranger than Fiction

Are the records of some of some of the cures of consumption effected by that most wonderful remedy—Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." Thousands of grateful men and women, who have been snatched almost from the very jaws of death, can testify that consumption, in its early stages, is no longer incurable. The Discovery has no equal as a pectoral and alterative, and the most obstinate affections of the throat and lungs yield to its power. All druggists.

jy9tf CITIZENS' WATER CO.

A-Safeguard.

The fatal rapidity with which slight Colds and Coughs frequently develop into the gravest maladies of the throat and lungs, is a consideration which should impel every prudent person to keep at hand, as a household remedy, a bottle of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

Nothing else gives such immediate relief and works so sure a cure in all affections of this class. That eminent physician, Prof. F. Sweetzer, of the Maine Medical School, Brunswick, Me., says:—

"Medical science has produced no other anodyne expectorant so good as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It is invaluable for diseases of the throat and lungs."

The same opinion is expressed by the well-known Dr. L. J. Addison, of Chicago, Ill., who says:—

"I have never found, in thirty-five years of continuous study and practice of medicine, any preparation of so great value as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, for treatment of diseases of the throat and lungs. It not only breaks up colds and cures severe coughs, but is more effective than anything else in relieving even the most serious bronchial and pulmonary affections."

AYER'S
Cherry Pectoral

Is not a new claimant for popular confidence, but a medicine which is to-day saving the lives of the third generation who have come into being since it was first offered to the public.

There is not a household in which this invaluable remedy has once been introduced where its use has ever been abandoned, and there is not a person who has ever given it a proper trial for any throat or lung disease susceptible of cure, who has not been made well by it.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has, in numberless instances, cured obstinate cases of chronic Bronchitis, Laryngitis, and even acute Pneumonia, and has saved many patients in the earlier stages of Pulmonary Consumption. It is a medicine that only requires to be taken in small doses, is pleasant to the taste, and is needed in every house where there are children, as there is nothing so good as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL for treatment of Croup and Whooping Cough.

These are all plain facts, which can be verified by anybody, and should be remembered by everybody.

Capital Stock, - - $1,200,000

1200 SHARES OF $100 EACH.

☞The company is now fully organized and ready for business. Four hundred thousand dollars of the stock is offered for investment and is being rapidly taken by home capitalists.

☞This grand domain is only two and one-half miles south of the corporate limits of Los Angeles, and comprises 3254 acres of the best land in Southern California, 2326 acres of which is in healthy and profitable vineyards. A branch of the Southern Pacific Company's railroad to San Pedro passes along the west side of the land and the Santa Ana or San Diego branch of the same company passes through the tract from west to east. The Ballona branch of the California Central passes along the northern boundary, while the San Diego branch will pass through the tract for two miles on the northern portion of the rancho. These remarkable railroad facilities make the land especially valuable for manufacturing purposes and it is understood that the owners will give generous grants of land to railways for car shops, storage houses for protection and painting of cars, nail factories, iron works, planing mills and paper mills. Shipments can be made from the rancho to all parts of the country by lines that lead in every direction.

☞The managers of this property think the outlook justifies the anticipation of being able to sell, in subdivision, eight hundred or a thousand acres of this property for enough money to return them the entire cost of $1,200,000, and have remaining a property that will pay a good return on an investment of $3,000,000.

☞The sale of 4000 shares, now at par, is to pay the incumbrances on the land, and for gathering and manufacturing the present enormous grape crop, estimated at 16,000,000 pounds.

Durham Massey, of London, England, is at the Nadeau.

F. H. Snowden, R. M. S., Albuquerque, is at the Pico House.

T. H. Goodman, of the Southern Pacific, left for home yesterday.

General O. O. Howard and daughter left for San Francisco yesterday.

Judge Banning, of Wilmington, visited Los Angeles yesterday on business matters.

Thomas Carter, of Carter Brothers, the well-known railway car manufacturers of Newark, Cal., is stopping at the St. Elmo.

E. Mayes, of Tacna, Arizona, one of the prominent gentlemen engaged in the development of the Salt river valley, is visiting the city.

Ex-Governor Geo. C. Perkins, Messrs. A. A. Washburn and J. L. Howard, of San Francisco have arrived in the city and will remain for a few days.

H. McLellan, of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, has returned from San Francisco, where he went to see his daughter off on a voyage to Yokohama, Japan.

A Noble Action.

Officer Little, while patroling his beat on First street last evening, was attracted by the violent blowing of a police whistle, on Main street. Hastening in that direction he was horrified to find a woman, in a beastly state of intoxication, staggering along the pavement. holding a four-year old child, in a semi-nude condition, by the hand. An express wagon was secured, and the woman and child placed in it and both were conveyed to the City Prison. The woman was of the "crying drunk." species, and the tears stole down her dissipated cheeks when the infant was torn from her embrace. She was charged with disorderly conduct and placed in a cell. The child was found to be in a filthy and emaciated condition and appeared to be suffering terribly from want of nourishment. Officer Little seemed to be greatly affected by the scene and took the little sufferer in his arms with that tenderness seldom seen only in a mother and took it to his home, where it will be properly cared for until some of the numerous charitable institutions can provide for it.

The Horse Show.

There was a large attendance last evening at the Grand Opera House to see Professor Bartholomew's troupe of trained horses. The intelligence of these animals is wonderful, and the show is very interesting and pleasing. This afternoon there will be a matinee particularly for the children. All the little ones from the different asylums will be admitted free of charge, and they are most cordially invited to attend. This is a very nice action on the part of Manager Wyatt and Prof. Bartholomew, and will be duly appreciated by the public. Also this afternoon a beautiful souvenir will be given to each lady and child in the audience.

To Set Aside a Patent.

United States District-Attorney, J Marion Brooks, commenced suit in the United States Circuit Court yesterday on behalf of the United States against Albert Lancaster. This suit was brought to declare a patent to land in San Diego County null and void. The complaint sets forth that defendant, in making final proof, introduced fraudulent testimony, and swore to false statements. It is further alleged that defendant swore that he had complied with the law. whereas he had only built a brush shanty. In building the brush shanty it is alleged that the defendant only stuck the ends of the poles in the ground, and covered the roof with brush. It is also stated that no crops were raised, and that instead of living on the premises as required by law, he had only paid the place an occasional visit. The real home of the defendant is alleged to be two miles away, with his uncle, where he raised bees for a living. This case is in reality a test case, and upon its decision depend a number of other cases, which it is claimed are of a similar nature. It will be pushed to the end.

The Electric Improvement Company.

The corporation known as the Electric Improvement Company of San Francisco, has for its managers the following officers: J. B. Randol, President; L. T. Haggin, Vice-President; A. J. Bowie, Chief Engineer and Secretary. The remaining members in the directory are J. DeBarth Shorb, Fred W. Sharon and F. Butterworth. Messrs. Randol and Bowie arrived in the city yesterday and went to Santa Monica last evening. They will meet with the stockholders of the Rapid Transit Company and explain their method of propelling cars by electricity according to the Fisher system. They propose to furnish the motive power for the new railroad from Los Angeles to Monrovia and run it without poles. The power will be entirely subterranean. This novel method of propulsion will attract much attention.

Four hundred thousand brick are being made at North Cucamonga for immediate use in that charming place.

PEOPLE'S STORE,

SPECIALS.

Special to-day is our immense lace sale. All at the uniform price of 10 cents a yard. We have but a few words to remark in regard to these laces, for all that is necessary to be said is that the cheapest of them is sold regularly at 25 cents a yard and upwards to 40 cents. All we ask is your inspection, and we are positive it will repay you. Remember, this sale lasts but one day, from 8 o'clock in the morning until 6 in the evening. Call early and avoid the rush. All laces on exhibition 10 cents a yard to-day.

Special to-day—Colored and white cashmere shawls, some plain and some silk embroidered. The quality is something superb. We must admit we have never seen as fine a grade as the one we offer to-day, for $1.50, and claim it cannot be equalled in the city at $3.50. To-day, $1.50; to-morrow, $2.50.

Special to-day—A line of parasols, beautiful in effect and handsome in designs. They are odds of lots we have almost sold out. Having one or two of a kind left we decided to offer them as special to-day, at a uniform price of $1.75 each. None worth less that $2.50, and up to $4.

Special to-day—An extra heavy black satin rhadamas, at 98 cents a yard. To-morrow's price $1.25.

Special to-day—An extra heavy black grossgrain dress silk, at 98 cents. To-morrow's price $1.35.

Special to-day—A line of open work canvas suitings, in patterns of from 10 to 10½ yards each, at $2.50 a pattern. These goods are 42 inches wide, and in color are black and navy blue. Our former price for these goods was $5.50. To-day's price $2,50.

Special to-day—Ladies' balbriggan vests, silk stitched and bound, at 25c each. To-morrow's price 45c.

Special to-day—Table oil cloths, in white, marble and fancy designs, 25c a yard. To-morrow's price 35c.

Special to-day—Navy blue twilled, all wool and flannel, just the thing for bathing suits, 25c a yard. To-morrow's price 38c.

Special to-day—Childrens' gingham aprons 25c each. To-morrow's price 35c.

Special to-day—Gent's colored bordered hemstitched handkerchiefs, manufacturer's imperfections, 10c each, worth double the money.

In order to make room for our immense remnant sale, which is to take place on Saturday, we offer all our specialties on center table to-day to close the following:

Boys' indigo blue and fancy percale shirt waists, 25c each.

Gents striped socks, 5c a pair.

Linen napkins, 45c a dozen.

Childrens' white dresses, 25c each.

Ladies' white aprons, 25c each.

Six-yard pieces of colored ruching, 25c a piece. PEOPLE'S STORE.

The Highest Authority.

William Hammond Hall, the State Engineer, who has had years of experience in land and water in California, after a full examination of the Rancho Ex-Mission of San Fernando, reports to the owners of the propery, the Porter Land and Water Company, as follows: "You have 10,000 to 11,000 acres, and perhaps more, of really first-rate valley lands for cultivation, with soils not to be surpassed for fertility and desirability by those of any section; lying very favorably for irrigation and in a neighborhood whose climate is well adapted to the best class of agricultural, horticultural and vineyard productions usual in this country." Mr. Hall has been employed by the company to devise a complete plan for the irrigation of the tract with the waters flowing from San Fernando, Sycamore and Pacoima creeks, and from the immense cienegas located upon the ranch, and the public may expect the finest water system in California upon this property. Office, room No. 9, Los Angeles National Bank building, corner First and Spring streets. A man always at San Fernando, with conveyances, to show the property.

CATARRH,

Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis and

Diseases of Women,

As well as all CHRONIC DISEASES treated specially and successfully

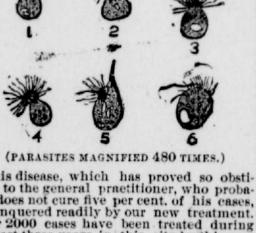
—BY—

W. N. Davis, M. D., M, C. P. S. O,

45½ N. Spring St., Los Angeles, Cal.

Nasal Catarrh

Treated upon a new principle, founded upon the fact that the disease is parasitic in its origin. The parasites can be demonstrated by the microscope, and will present the appearance shown below:



(PARASITES MAGNIFIED 480 TIMES.)

This disease, which has proved so obstinate to the general practitioner, who probably does not cure five per cent. of his cases, is conquered readily by our new treatment. Over 2000 cases have been treated during the last three years in this city by this new treatment, and in fully ninety per cent. successfully.

Hundreds of references can be given.

Medical Inhalation Combined with Constitutional Remedies.

Our treatment of the diseases of the respiratory passages consists in the employment of Medical Inhalation, for its direct effects on the diseased organs; and, at the same time, adopting such hygienic measures, and administering such medicines by the stomach as will most effectually purify the blood, give tone to the nervous system and build up and strengthen the general constitution. In other words, employ combined local and general treatment.

What is medical inhalation? Before stating briefly what medical inhalation is, we propose, in as few words as possible, to state clearly what it is not.

Medical Inhalation is not a cure-all, a nostrum, or a panacea. It is not a specific remedy for any disease. It is not a quack medicine, advertised to cure any and all the ills that flesh is heir to, and intended to fill the pockets of its proprietors. It is not a talisman whose possession insures health to its possessor without the intervention of either sense or judgment. Medical inhalation is none of these things.

Medical Inhalation is simply and solely a method of taking medicines by inhaling or breathing them into the lungs, instead of swallowing them into the stomach. By inhalation the proper medicines are applied directly to the seat of the disease, in the nose, throat or lungs; and it is clear to every reasoning person how peculiarly applicable inhalation is in the disorders of the orgnns named. If you have scalded or burned the surface of the body, or wounded any limb or member, you do not swallow the remedy intended to heal the disorganized tissues' On the contrary you apply it directly to the seat of the wound or injury. Why, then, when suffering from catarrh of the nasal passages or throat, or afflicted with ulceration of the lungs, should you rely on medicines taken into the stomach?

Our experience and success in treating diseases of the nose, throat and lungs demonstrates, beyond all question, that the true scientific treatment of these diseases is that treatment which combines the local effect of medical inhalation with the constitutional effects of systemic remedies, given in the usual way by the stomach. One or both methods must be adopted as the circumstances demand, and such remedies must be employed as the experience and judgment of the physician have proved to be proper in each particular case.

CATARRH!

Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma

CONSUMPTION

Together with diseases of the

Eye, Ear and Heart

Successfully treated by

M. Hilton Williams, M. D., M. C. P. S. O

No. 275 Main Street,

A Few Doors South of the New Postoffice

LOS ANGELES, CAL.

All diseases of the respiratory organs treated by the most improved Medicated Inhalations, combined with proper constitutional remedies for the liver, stomach, blood, etc.

Probably no system of practice ever adopted has been so universally successful as that introduced by Dr. Williams for the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

Over 75,000 cases treated during the past twenty years for some form of head, throat or lung trouble.

CATARRH

To those who are afflicted with any of the different forms of Catarrh, we would say, there is no disease which presents a greater diversity of symptoms, none more loathsome insidious and dangerous than Nasal Catarrh, especially if complicated, as it almost always is, even from its first appearance, with an affection of the throat.

From the earliest symptoms (which are generally attributed to a "cold in the head") to the various ugly and distressing stages through which the disease passes, the patient is hopeful of recovery, and rarely gives it proper attention until certain alarming symptoms present themselves, denoting unmistakably the rapid advance of the malady to the lungs. Indeed, so various are the symptoms that the presence of the disease is not always known or even suspected, until it has reached a stage difficult to arrest. The disease may or may not be attended by a discharge from the nostrils or throat, but there is usually present a morbid secretion and a frequent disposition (especially in the morning) to clear the throat, and the effort to do so is often, though not always, attended by expectoration; there is a sensation of heaviness in the frontal part of the head, and the brain sometimes suffers to an extent producing headache, vertigo and confusion; it becomes difficult to think clearly, and to concentrate the mind; the memory becomes impaired and the intellect enfeebled; despondency of spirit and an excitable condition of the nervous system. Such is the effect of the disease, and if to this train of symptoms (which not infrequently leads to to insanity or idiocy) we add many of the more loathsome physical effects, as cassies, or rottenness of the bones of the face and head, a most offensive smell to the breath, and corrupt, morbid and poisonous secretions, destruction or the serious injury of the sense of smell, hearing, sight and taste, we have a catalogue of horrors which would lead any person to make early and proper efforts to eradicate the disease from the system. Every case of Catarrh is curable if properly treated.

BRONCHITIS.

Acute Bronchitis is an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the bronchial tubes, and is one of the most common of the pulmonary diseases. It is a dangerous disease, as it prevents the oxygenation of the blood, and in many cases, particularly after it passes into the chronic stage, the substance of the lungs becomes seriously involved, giving rise to what is very properly called Bronchial Consumption. In the acute form there is a sense of tightness or pressure across the chest, with considerable wheezing, severe coughs and expectoration. This is at first a white glary mucous, which, after a time, becomes purulent. The patient in some cases is obliged to sit up in bed, the oppression across the chest is so great; the skin is clammy and prostration rapidly sets in, and in fatal cases there will be muttering delirium, coma and death.

Chronic Bronchitis.

Chronic Bronchitis is also an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the bronchial tubes. When a cold settles on the lungs the disease either ends in bronchitis or pneumonia. If it ends in bronchitis it usually passes off as a cold on the chest, and still the patient does not feel entirely well. He feels tired and languid, and is incapable of taking his usual amount of exercise, and experiences a shortness of breath with more or less warmth in the palms of his hands. Soon after this a cough appears, accompanied by an expectoration of thick mucus, followed by a hectic flush, loss of flesh and strength and night sweats continue, when the patient assumes all the appearances of having a genuine case of consumption. But this is simply catarrh of the lungs or chronic Bronchitis.

In the later stage of the disease the mucus membrane of the larger bronchial tube softens, while in the smaller tubes and air cells of the lungs the mucus membrane becomes congested and inflammed. There are no cavaties nor tubercles in the lungs, but merely a wasting away of the larger bronchial tubes, and death takes place from obstruction of the bronchial tubes and air cells of the lungs. The patient dies from exhaustion and suffocation, being unable to expectorate the mucus which accumulates in the passage leading to the lungs, which in some cases is sticky and small in quantity, but more commonly copious, of a light straw or yellowish green. Oftentimes streaks of blood make their appearance in the mucus, and at times there is a disagreeable smell. Persons thus afflicted are very liable to take a cold, at which times the [illegible]
